OF WOMEN
PARADE

Suffragists in Many Cities March to Promote Cause

Chicago Advocates Have Line Extending Two Miles

CHICAGO, May 2.—Thousands of women in many of the larger cities throughout the country gave active expression today to their desire for the extension of the right to vote by joining in parades, attending mass meetings and by word of mouth seeking to advance the cause of votes for women.

Chicago suffragists with a marching column two miles long claimed credit for the monster parade of the day. New York women contented themselves with a series of open air meetings in various public squares and a huge mass meeting in the evening.

The staid streets of Philadelphia were enlivened by a parade of suffragists, most of whom carried bunches of daffodils while anti-suffragists sported red roses in distinction from their marching sisters. Pittsburgh suffragists paraded and later attended a mass meeting.

Kansas City women staged a motor car parade and distributed hundreds of leaflets telling the need of women's votes. The feature of Detroit's procession was a mass meeting to be held in the evening. Several hundred women were in the downtown streets today selling banners, bouquets and other votes-for-women insignia.

There was a suffragist street street demonstration in Indianapolis. At St. Louis a parade of sixty automobiles were the feature of the day. Several mass meetings were held in the city.

Hundreds of smaller cities throughout the country participated in the day's celebration.

HOLD MANY MEETINGS.
NEW YORK, May 2.—With hundreds of workers in automobiles and on foot throughout the five boroughs, Greater New York observed suffrage day in open air meetings in place of the annual parade. All the organizations will hold a mass meeting tonight in Carnegie hall under the auspices of the Women's Political Union.

THOUSANDS TAKE PART.
PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Local suffragists planned a short parade through the central part of the city and a mass meeting in Washington Square as their part in the nation-wide demonstration today in the interest of votes for women. Several thousand women and scores of men are to take part. In Washington Square women were seen today.

FIRST DEMONSTRATION.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 2.—A parade of suffragists and a mass meeting to be held today is the first demonstration of the suffrage movement of any magnitude in this city.

7000 PARADE IN BOSTON.
BOSTON, May 2.—Fair weather following heavy rains which had beaten down the dust, gave agreeable marching conditions for the women suffrage parade here today. The 7000 paraders included several hundred men.

MAYOR IS PLEDGED

Oliver Ellsworth Agrees to Exact Conditions From Water District Appointee.

Mayor Oliver Ellsworth of Piedmont today added his signature to that of the other mayors having pledged themselves to exact a promise from their appointees on the directorate of the water district that they will submit all important measures to a vote of the people. The original pledge of the mayors now bears the signatures of all the executives of the seven cities.

The pledge was originally signed for Piedmont by Mayor Hugh Craig of that city. Craig has since resigned and has been succeeded by Oliver Ellsworth.

The signing of the pledge by Mayor Ellsworth was the direct outcome of the meeting Wednesday night of the executive committee of the Metropolitan Water District at the headquarters of the Commercial Club at the Hotel Oakland. The mayors of the seven cities were present at the meeting, and it was suggested that Mayor Ellsworth should attach his signature to the pledge.

BELIEVES IN PLEDGE.
Mayor Ellsworth readily agreed, and today attached his name to the original pledge containing the names of the other municipal executives. Speaking of the pledge, Mayor Ellsworth said:

"I have read this pledge carefully, and I believe that it is right and just that we should enter into this agreement. The water district act has certain minor defects. I firmly believe that the most important of these is corrected by this pledge.

"There is no doubt that this promise will be absolutely binding, not only upon the mayors themselves, but upon their clear in its wording, and no man, after signing this instrument, could possibly be false to it and remain in public life thereafter.

3 DIE IN FIRE; MINERS ACCUSED

RUIZ MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTER

Sentence to Be Shot In Childish 'War' Is Lad's Death Warrant

CHICAGO, May 2.—"I am an American soldier and you are a Mexican," said Louis Karaszinski, 12 years old, to Edward Lelland, 10 years old. "You are sentenced to be shot."

The boys were playing "war" yesterday in a shed in the rear of their home. Edward backed up against the side of the shed, closed his eyes and folded his hands behind him. He was playing the part of the Mexican. Louis backed off, aimed a revolver and fired. Edward fell dead. The boys had not known the revolver was loaded. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

TO INCREASE STOCK
Realty Syndicate to Expand Interests From $500,000 to $7,500,000.

After a meeting held this morning, the board of directors of the Realty Syndicate died with the county clerk a certificate showing that they had voted to increase the capital stock of the concern from $500,000 to $7,500,000. Bonds will be issued to that amount as fast as future development work and the matter of refinancing the company warrants. Of the $500,000 present bonded indebtedness, there is all but $100,000 of the amount outstanding.

F. M. Smith, president of the corporation being absent in the east, the meeting was called to order by C. P. Murdoch, vice-president. There were four out of the five directors present. Murdoch, D. A. Bolmer, J. A. Thomson and A. G. Tashira. W. P. Morehouse is secretary. There were 20,594 shares of stock represented in person or by proxy valued at $5,050,400 par. W. L. Brobeck represented the Smith interests at the meeting and introduced the resolutions providing for the increased capitalization.

According to the action taken today, the revenue obtained by the sale of bonds is to be used "for the purpose of providing money to pay the existing indebtedness of the corporation and acquiring property to be used in the business of the corporation and in extending the business and developing the properties of the corporation and for legitimate and necessary purposes."

Peoples Water Co. Would Issue Notes

The committee of financiers which has had in charge the affairs of the Peoples Water Company have applied to the State Railroad Commission for permission to issue promissory notes in the amount of $3,229,882.55 in order that present debts of the company may be liquidated. The move has been decided upon in order to further the re-financing of the company as undertaken several months ago. The amount asked for is estimated as the maximum necessary to meet the obligations.

As security for the loan the directors will ask permission to pledge the 6 per cent general mortgage bonds of the company on the loan, which it is planned to extend over a period of two years, the notes being issued from time to time as it may become necessary.

Bryan Notified of Japan Participating

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Baron Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, has formally notified Secretary Bryan of the decision of the Japanese government to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. He informed the secretary that his government would send an exhibit and would also take steps to induce interests to participate.

Officials of the Washington administration are inclined to look upon this action as another evidence of Japan's desire to continue friendly relations with the United States.

Petitions for Papers in Girl's Estate

Petition for letters of administration in the estate of the late Myra N. Hall, well known society girl who died on April 25, was filed in the Superior Court today by her father, Frederick W. Hall, of 67 Kings street, Piedmont. The estate is valued at $16,000.

SUCCESSOR OF ROJAS, RETIRED LOVE FLIES IN RECORD TIME

Change Not Expected to Affect Progress of Mediation McGuinn - Diaz Nuptials Find Sad Sequel in Divorce

Reported Massing of the Rebels Against Tampico Important

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Licentiate Esteban Ruiz has been appointed minister of foreign affairs in the Huerta cabinet to succeed Portillo y Rojas, retired. The Spanish ambassador here was officially informed of the appointment by cable this morning.

Ruiz was under secretary of Portillo y Rojas. He has assisted in the mediation negotiations and it is authoritatively stated that the change will not affect the continued progress of the mediation plans. Ruiz had been referred to as probable Huerta commissioner in case the mediators proposed a commission representing all parties to the controversy.

The Spanish ambassador, Mr. Riano, carried the cable announcement of Ruiz's appointment to the Argentine legation. The mediators were at once called together and a conference began with the Spanish ambassador taking part.

CHANGE UNEXPECTED.
The appointment of Ruiz and retirement of Portillo y Rojas, the latter having been made known last night, came as a complete surprise to officials here, particularly to the mediators and the Spanish ambassador, who had received no hint of an impending change.

The mediators had carried on all their negotiations up to this time with Portillo y Rojas, to whom the proposition of good offices was made, and his retirement was regarded as unfavorable until the cable announcement reached Mr. Riano that Ruiz had taken the direction of foreign affairs.

The mediators stated, however, that the retirement of Portillo y Rojas would in no way affect the negotiations.

RUIZ-HUERTA RELATIONS.
Outside the mediation conference the hearing of the Ruiz appointment caused widespread speculation. The fact that he had been mentioned as a probable Huerta commissioner in case the mediators proposed a commission to settle the entire trouble, led to the belief that Ruiz would pursue the same friendly policy shown in the negotiations up to this time. But in some quarters it was felt that Huerta himself was directing affairs with a strong hand and that Ruiz was more amenable to Huerta's direction than Portillo y Rojas had been.

It was pointed out that according to the Mexican constitution the minister of foreign affairs succeeds to the duties of the president in case of his death.

GIVES TAX FIGURES
J. B. Barber Shows Total Collection of $2,909,683; Delinquency, $100,773.

County Tax Collector James B. Barber compiled figures today showing that with the closing of his books for regular payment of taxes last Monday he had collected a total of $2,909,683.78 out of $3,010,457.03, the amount charged on the assessment roll for the year 1913. There is a delinquency in the payments of both installments amounting to $100,773.25, or approximately 3.3 per cent greater than for the preceding year.

Up to April 1 there had been turned over to the county treasury $1,862,500.11 collected on the first and part of the second installments. During April and up to the 27th of the month, at which time the second installment became delinquent, there was collected $1,047,083.67.

Sale of the delinquent taxes will be advertised in July. There is now $104,708.67 in delinquent payments. To this will be added the price of advertising each description of property for the tax sale.

It is probable that considerable of the delinquent amount will be paid in between now and the time of the sale," said Collector Barber today. "The delinquency for 1912 was between $11,000 and $12,000."

TRIES TO KIDNAP HIS SON CAPTURED AFTER CHASE

Thrilling Climax to the Failure of Wife to Secure Divorce

CHICAGO, May 2.—Sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Emma Kraft, a Cincinnati widow, was imposed on John E. Koettters today by Judge McDonald.

Koettters, known throughout the trial as "Handsome Jack," almost collapsed as the judge spoke the words which cut him off from free society forever.

He was taken back to jail by bailiffs. "The testimony against me was perjured," Koettters was found guilty of killing Mrs. Kraft with a hammer in a Chicago hotel in November, 1912. She was infatuated with him and had given him money.

Jumps to Avoid Auto Collision; Injured
Leaping from her automobile when she thought a collision inevitable with another car on the Foothill Boulevard yesterday afternoon, Miss Marie Silva, 1753 East Sixteenth street, suffered a severe sprain of the right ankle and is confined to her home. Miss Silva was driving a large touring car and was alone in the machine. As she was driving down the grade near East Twenty-first street, a car which had turned into the boulevard and a collision appeared unavoidable.

Miss Silva shut off the power and leaped from the machine before it came to a stop. Her ankle turned under her weight and she fell in a crumpled heap. Seeing the accident, the passengers in the passing car offered to convey her home, but she pluckily refused and drove her own machine back before receiving medical attention.

LIVES LOST IN HOTEL BLAZE

Was Gathering Place for Non-Union Workmen

Owner Had Received a Warning to Leave the Town

BULLETIN.

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 2.—A man in a militia uniform put a torch to a tent in the Ludlow tent colony at 7:05 on the evening of April 29, according to the testimony of D. J. Riley before the coroner's jury today.

DENVER, Colo., May 2.—Three men were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the Watt saloon and boarding-house at the Oak Creek mine, in Routt county, according to reports received at the governor's office. The dead:

ROBERT DOGGETT, JACK SNOW, ONE UNIDENTIFIED MAN.

The governor has been unable to confirm a report that a woman and child, supposed to have been in the back of the boarding-house, had lost their lives.

The governor's information stated that Watts had received a warning by telephone to close or he would be burned out. His place was the "hang-out" for non-union men.

It was reported to the governor that oil had been poured over the front and back doors of the place and ignited.

The Oak Creek miners did not go to work today, but those at the Morrison mine, where the strike is continuing operations. Miners are guarding the properties.

An appeal was made to the governor for troops, but owing to the remoteness of the Oak Creek district, it was not known how soon protection could be furnished.

Oak Creek is in northwestern Colorado. A few months ago, during outbreaks in that section, citizens formed a protective organization.

TROOPS CONTROL LUDLOW.
TRINIDAD, Colo., May 2.—Troop A, Fifth United States Cavalry, under Captain Forester, took possession today of Ludlow. The troop consisted of about 70 men. The militia force which has been in occupation of the Ludlow district moved out. Major W. A. Holbrook said that Captain Forester would have full authority in the Ludlow district. He intimated that the troops, after establishing camp, might be divided, small details being sent to any point where they were needed.

The major was shown an Associated Press dispatch telling of Secretary Garrison's proclamation calling upon all parties to surrender their arms. He declined to make any comment or to discuss the question of disarmament in any way.

John B. Lawson said: "The United Mine Workers are willing and anxious to co-operate in every possible way in restoring order. If the proclamation of Secretary Garrison really means that the guards will be disbanded and the militia kept out of the district, our men will turn over their guns without hesitation. If it should turn out that the order does not apply to the mine guards and the militia, I cannot say at this time what will be the attitude of the strikers. I am waiting to learn the exact terms of the order and the methods to be adopted by the federal troops in the strike district in carrying it out."

George T. Peart, general superintendent of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, today invited the committee of women representing the Women's Peace Association to go with him to visit Forbes, the scene of the battle of Wednesday between mine guards and strikers, in which nine defenders were killed and property damage estimated at $30,000 done. The women declined the invitation.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Under authority of the President, Secretary of War Garrison today issued a proclamation calling on the people in the strike district of Colorado to surrender all arms.

States arm officers now in charge at the various troubled localities.

Secretary Garrison's proclamation, addressed to Major Holbrook at Trinidad, is in the most sweeping terms and demands the disarming of not only the strikers but all armed men in the district.

For his recovery. Prior to his removal to the hospital yesterday he had been confined to his home for one week.

Rice is an active member of the Commercial Club and various civic organizations of this city. He is held in high esteem in club and social circles of Oakland.

WRITERS' CLUB NOTED FOR LITERARY TREATS

Reception to Annie Laurie Recalls Memorable Gathering of Celebrities

(By BETTY MARTIN.)

The California Writers' Club, which keeps open house on the first Tuesday of each month. These meetings are always immensely enjoyed, and the hour of departure is invariably accompanied by regrets.

In May, however, owing to inability to secure the regular quarters for the fifth, the meeting has been postponed. In its place the reception tendered to Annie Laurie, past mistress in expounding the true inwardness of woman, will be held.

Speaking of receptions given under the auspices of the California Writers' Club, one might say that the reception to Annie Laurie, past mistress in expounding the true inwardness of woman, will be held.

Under this name it met from house to house among the members, sometimes as a whole, sometimes in sections, each that the term "Writers' Club" was a misnomer, because in reality few members of the regular press belonged. Thereupon a great consensus of opinion was reached. The term "Writers' Club" was finally dropped, and one of wide latitude might or might not include all writers for publication—newspaper people, novelists, short story writers, and others.

NAME IS CHANGED.
But the element of dissatisfaction still prevailed, and at a special meeting the name was changed to the "California

The membership roll includes many well-known people. The club membership now includes all writers. Dr. William Morgan of Berkeley is president, and Mrs. W. W. Watson is vice president.

The board of directors is comprised of Mrs. Rebecca N. Porter, Mrs. Carl Bank, Dr. Cyrus J. Gadsby, Mr. D. W. Starrett, Mrs. Hester A. Hester, Miss Florence Livingston, Mr. C. W. Carruth and Miss Zoe Ackerman.

TO ASSOCIATION TO MEET.
To meet the club, the San Francisco Association of Authors, and the Association of Authors of the Pacific Coast, will meet at the residence of Mrs. H. M. "Lucky" Derby street, Berkeley, commencing at half past two.

As each organization totals something like one hundred members, a large gathering is anticipated. The association of authors of the Pacific Coast is president of the association and Mrs. Wells Drury, the corresponding secretary.

TO ISSUE BOOK.
In August the California Writers' Club will issue a book of short stories, edited by the novelist, Herman Whitaker, and Marking the swing of public sentiment in favor of the formation of a metropolitan water district by a big vote at the June 2 election, members of the Vernon Improvement League, who are working for the approval of the measure last night after listening to an address by Peter J. Crosby on the subject. Crosby gave a clear exposition of the subject, outlining the procedure necessary to the acquisition of a water supply, and explaining the various safeguards involved about the project in the interests of the people. He answered a number of questions, setting at rest the only objection raised to the proposition.

James Vane, president of the club, presided over the meeting, while H. C. Cretia acted as secretary. A short talk was made by J. Harrison Gray, former president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, in favor of the water district plan. The meeting was held at the Horton school in Perkins street.

SIGNIFICANT POINTS ELICITED.
Significant points brought out by Crosby in his talk were these:

"A public necessity, of which there is but a limited supply, as in the case of water, is owned by the public.

"The pledges to be exacted from seven appointive directors of the water district that they will not acquire any property without a referendum by the people, and without having the State Railroad Commission pass upon the valuation may be relied upon.

"It is well enough to talk about prospective public officials being false to solemn pledges made in a public and definite manner, but the fact is that in the case of water, the ones who are false to public, definite pledges are a negligible quantity. There is no reason to be apprehensive about this matter. It is too public and too definite. And as a matter of fact, the great majority of public officials are honorable men.

PROTECTED FIRST TO LAST.
"The people of this district are protected from first to last. The coming election June 2 is the first direct initiative by the people of Alameda county, and the election of the water district will have the last and final say. They will have the last and final say, and either approve or defeat the whole project when they pass upon the bond issue for the purchase of the property after the railroad commission has decided the valuation. Besides this, the people are guaranteed a referendum through the pledges of the mayors.

"The conditions of the option given by the Peoples Water Company are also a binding upon that company in such a manner that the public is protected, without being obligated to anything. That option provides that the Peoples Water Company must accept the valuation fixed by the State Railroad Commission.

"The Railroad Commission will fix a fair price for the property as it stands, not upon its indebtedness or any other extraneous matter.

"The directors of the district cannot levy a direct tax upon the property owners of this district, as this has to be done through the board of supervisors. The Marin county board of supervisors on the estimate of the water district directors in half."

HARRISON CLAYS ADDRESS.
Crosby's talk was prefaced by a short address by J. Harrison Clay.

"This election will give us the chance we have waited for," declared Clay. "Some 20 years ago municipal ownership was merely a plank in a political platform, and many of us who are now here have been disappointed. Now it has become a realizable fact. Now through this law, it is not the time to place today to find petty flaws in the law. It is our opportunity and privilege to take advantage of the situation by forming a public ownership district. There may be dangers ahead, but they are small compared to the dangers we experienced under private ownership. And remember this: It takes the people to vote bonds, and that gives the final absolute control. But the first step is to organize this machinery for public ownership."

It is evident to all of us, said Crosby, "that no great project ever comes before the people without there being two sides to it. Out of the debate upon such matters plans and improvements are finally evolved. The present proposition is a case in point. Debate and argument and action has been going on for years concerning public control here, until it has become the general consensus of opinion that we ought to own and operate our water system. Even the people who are in opposition in this district concede that. The present bill is also the result of the public opinion of the general consideration of the matter. It is the last constructive legislation that all the people have been able to formulate, a little being added or taken away, to meet varying views.

LEARN BY ACTING NOW.
"We have gone as far as we can on speculative and theoretical discussion. Now is the time to learn by acting. We have thrown as many safeguards as possible around the matter, safeguards that are sufficient to give us full protection. Let's look at these safeguards. I have listed the points of the pledge made by the seven mayors that they will exact a definite and comprehensive promise from their appointees before ratifying the appointment, that binds these directors to two things. The first is that they will not attempt to acquire property in any manner without a referendum to the vote of the people. The second is that the State Railroad Commission shall fix the valuation on the property to be acquired, and shall also fix the amount and kind of property necessary for this water district.

Now mayor of Piedmont as successor to Hugh Craig, who was formerly president of the city board of trustees, has also signed this pledge. This gives you a clear majority on the board of 13 directors.

BILL PROVIDES SAFEGUARDS.
"The bill itself provides certain safeguards. The five elective directors are subject to recall, so that if by some extraordinary chance one of the appointive directors should go back on his word, you would still be able to enforce your will upon a majority of the board.

"The bill also provides that it is the intent that the district shall be self-supporting from water rates. The figures filed by the Peoples Water Company with the State Railroad Commission show that under any reasonable management, this property will not only pay its own way, but will produce profits and pay off any debt incurred. It rests finally with you whether that bonded indebtedness shall be incurred, as Mr. Max Thelen, of the State Railroad Commission, and the district attorney's office of this county have both given their opinion that there is no other way in which the water district can raise money under the law as it stands. The board of supervisors, who are recallable, have the final say as to whether any direct tax shall be levied."

WILLARD URGES ADVANCE.
In his closing statement President Willard said that during the last ten years the Eastern roads had expended in additions and betterments of their properties $200,000,000 a year and that a sum equal to that would be required during the next ten years. He, therefore, urged that the advance of five per cent be permitted, as that would provide "for a small and substantially uniform advance upon all freight." He said the carriers had not overlooked the fact that other means of raising revenue might be adopted, but in all the circumstances they believed the horizontal increase was the best and most equitable method to adopt.

Mr. Willard urged that the needs of the carriers were of an emergency character, and that the carriers were compelled by circumstances to follow a policy of enforced economies, which, if continued, means less efficient and less satisfactory transportation. It seems to me that our broad economic policy should contemplate more and better railroads rather than newer and poorer railroads. This commission has well said that "commerce and industry cannot afford to wait on transportation facilities."

There was a big audience yesterday afternoon and evening at the "Creation" at the Macdonough theater.

The celebrated Abidos Tablet, the history of the Pharaohs of Egypt, prepared with great care by the British Museum, is one of the oldest historic documents in the world. It was carved in stone as a part of a staircase. In the solid rock, 50 feet deep. With great care it was removed and is now in the British Museum at London.

A photograph of the tablet is shown in the photo-play of "Creation." It is very interesting and believed to be the correct history of the Egyptian dynasty back to Adam—Mena—the first of the line of Pharaohs.

The photo-play of "Creation" seems to have been made with the most interesting features. Some are most interested in the story of the stars and of creation; some in the narrative of the fallen angels; some in the story of the faithful Abraham and the offering of his son Isaac; in sacrifice. All declare that the drama is intensely interesting and wonderfully instructive. Not a few claim that it is worth more than a course in college.

Sunday evening will close the presentation of the first part. Monday next, 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. will open the second part.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS SHOW A DECREASE

Revenue of Ports of Oakland and San Francisco Fall Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—For the first four months of this year the total amount of imports and exports, the customs receipts at this port fell off nearly $200,000, according to official figures. It was estimated that there would be a slight difference from last year on account of the new tariff law, but not to the extent shown.

Receipts at Eastern ports are reported to have decreased to a much greater percentage than here. The smaller revenue for the Government was especially noticeable at Philadelphia and Philadelphia where large quantities of wool and sugar are imported. Wool is now free of duty, while the duty on sugar was reduced on the 1st of March.

The total collections at the customhouse for the first four months of 1913 and 1914 were as follows:

	1913	1914
January	$508,040.34	$480,932.02
February	$507,397.25	$475,211.41
March	$498,273.96	$481,076.90
April	$512,231.95	$475,103.16
Totals	$1,985,943.50	$1,776,323.39
Decrease		$209,619.11

At Oakland the receipts were:

	1913	1914
January	$222.32	$264.32
February	$233.14	$235.74
March	$45.73	$134.33
April	$185.27	$53.73
Totals	$586.22	$288.12
Decrease		$298.10

The total decrease amounts to $14,677.55.

The receipts at the other sub-ports have not been received here yet.

Whatever deficit occurs under the estimate originally made for the working of the new tariff law, it is expected, will be made up partially by the revenue from the new tariff law.

presidency in case of the president's retirement when there is no vice-president, as in the case now in Mexico. Hence Carranza was next in line for the presidency and Ruiz was next in that position.

Senor Ruiz has been in the Mexican government service in various capacities for many years, but has never affiliated himself with any particular faction. His position has been analogous to that of an assistant secretary

ENVOYS UNDISMAYED.

Undismayed by the refusal of Carranza, rebel chief, formally to agree to the establishment of a neutral zone in the rich oil fields about Tampico, the South American envoys today resumed negotiations aiming at a settlement of the Mexican crisis. While Carranza's refusal was variously interpreted, yet administration officials held it could not be considered as having proposal that hostilities cease between Huerta and the Constitutionalists. Carranza's attitude in the Tampico situation was not unexpected. Carranza was a neutral zone there materially would help the rebels' investing operations. Carranza controlled the river along which the oil tanks are built, while the rebels occupy the oil fields on Tampico's outskirts. The situation, it was believed, practically obliterated the field of fighting operations. However, the rebel chief notified the state department and the British ambassador that his men had been warned to employ every precaution against destruction of the property largely owned by English interests.

AWAIT CARRANZA'S REPLY.

Although the envoys are in communication with Carranza over their proposition for suspension of hostilities between Huerta and the rebels pending negotiations, word yet was to be received from him today. Until he makes a definite reply the envoys will be unable to determine whether their efforts for the present must be confined to issues between Huerta and the United States government, or whether they may be broadened to include the entire Mexican situation. Carranza's delay in replying was given interpretations. In some quarters it was favoredly regarded, being being expressed that the rebel chief was giving careful consideration to the proposal. Elsewhere Carranza's silence caused some doubt over the hope of bridging the whole vexing question.

Nevertheless, the envoys resumed progress since the beginning of negotiations six days ago was unusually favorable. A feature that relieved fears of tension today was the report that Huerta had ordered the release of Carranza's Dr. Edward Ryan of the American Red Cross. He had been sentenced to death as a spy, but after vigorous representation had been made to Huerta through several sources, he ordered the American physician's release and safe conduct to the Brazilian embassy in Mexico City. Dr. Ryan had done notable relief work on both sides in the fighting between the Mexican factions, and the report of his arrest was a surprising turn of events that threatened to heighten the issue between the United States and Huerta now in the hands of the South American envoys.

REBELS ARRIVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Chamber of Commerce received a message from Guatemala City today, under date of April 30, saying that a large number of refugees arrived there last Wednesday from Mazatlan on the steamer Acapulco.

ROJAS RESIGNS.

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, minister of foreign affairs in Huerta's cabinet, resigned yesterday, as did Esteva Ruiz, under secretary in the foreign office.

Rojas was the ablest man in Huerta's cabinet.

It was he who conducted the long negotiations with John Lind, the special envoy sent to Mexico by President Wilson.

The resignation of Senor Rojas followed a cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon. The cabinet rejected a proposition made by Rojas to send an official commission to Washington in an endeavor to arrange the difficulties in accordance with the Mexican customs house rules President Huerta has dictated an order prohibiting commerce with the United States and permitting the federal commissaries in ports the right to reject the entrance of American steamers.

All cargoes arriving from the United States will be confiscated by the government.

The Vera Cruz customs house has been declared closed to international commerce.

Under the impression that the trains still were running on the Inter-oceanic railroad, the refugees went to the station of that line instead of to the depot of the Mexican railway, over which road all other refugees have left the capital, so that the news of the woman's death was not widely known among Americans.

Mrs. Beckmeyer was a widow of three months. She wore at her collar a small silk German flag, but the mob, regarding this merely as a flimsy disguise of nationality, is said to have dragged her through the streets until she died.

Effort to Cut Off Food Supply at Vera Cruz Considered

VERA CRUZ, May 2.—The situation at Tampico and the effort of the Mexican government of the state to cut off the food supply of Vera Cruz divided attention today.

The reported massing of rebel forces against Tampico is regarded as important because it is felt to mean that the fall of the city will have some bearing on the immediate policy of the United States.

Many persons who are well informed of the federal preparedness in Tampico are skeptical of the predictions of an early rebel success. They point out that three federal gunboats have thus far easily repelled the attacks.

The situation of the town is such that a force cannot approach without exposing itself to the fire of four-inch quick-firing guns except from one direction. That point is defended by a triple line of trenches and many machine guns and field artillery. Gunboats and soldiers are plentifully supplied with ammunition.

The rebels heretofore have been without artillery. Unless guns have reached them from the northern rebels, it is believed impossible for them to drive out the federalists. The fall of Tampico into rebel hands might help solve the food situation in Vera Cruz.

WOULD FURNISH SUPPLIES.

In that event, it is presumed the trade between Vera Cruz and Tampico would be resumed and that the territory about Tampico would supply the market here to some extent. Just now the only supplies reaching Vera Cruz are coming from the small ranches near enough to the city for them to feel assured of American protection.

If the order of the Mexican government of the state of Vera Cruz, threatening execution of anyone bringing food to the city, is effective, even this small supply will be cut off.

The money situation is also peculiar. The banks have been virtually at a standstill for all except small exchange business because of the lack of stamps required by the Mexican laws now in force. Nearly 400,000 pesos of captured stamps were placed in circulation today to relieve the situation. It is getting almost impossible to find Mexican exchange.

STRUNG UP BY NECK.

H. W. McClelland, a pineapple grower, was twice strung up by the neck by ten of his workmen, robbed and left for dead on a plantation at El Burro, near Santa Lucia.

McClelland here with other refugees yesterday, penniless, and was taken in charge by the Red Cross.

McClelland and his partner, W. P. Gregory, the latter having been absent at the time of the robbery, visited their way to Santa Lucia, and joined the refugees from the capital.

MAY BAR BULL FIGHTING.

Bull fighting will be barred in Vera Cruz if the suggestion of the native city council is approved by Civil Governor Kerr.

It is not the intention of the civil government to interfere with the customs of the people any more than is necessary, and when the aldermen, in session last night, proposed depriving their own people of their most popular form of sport, there was much surprise in the governor's office.

That there will be little, if any, opposition to the aldermen's suggestion is practically certain. Bull fighting is not indulged in so much in this state as in most of the others and for many years it was prohibited. It that permission to revive it was given.

Carranza Stages Grandstand Act in Greeting American

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., May 1. Via El Paso, May 2.—Reports of the evacuation of Saltillo are premature. It is officially stated here. The rebels expect an immediate battle before the city is taken and for this purpose forces are now in motion from Monterrey and Torreon.

A review of the troops headed by Carranza and Villa was held today and tonight. The two leaders, members of the cabinet, the military staffs and a number of lesser officials participated in a levee at the gubernatorial palace. As the general Carranza espied an American newspaperman among the spectators, he halted the procession while he turned aside to shake the foreigner's hand. The act was plainly intended to make visitors in northern Mexico feel the official attitude toward Americans as friendly. In fact every Mexican understands that anti-foreign agitation or demonstration means death to the offender.

Brother of Slain Francisco Madero Leaves Hiding

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, May 2.—After hiding from the Mexican federalists in Monterrey for several months, Benjamin Madero, brother of the late Francisco Madero, came out of seclusion when the constitutionalists captured the city and arrived with a party of 35 American refugees in Brownsville yesterday with his family.

Madero went into hiding at the time his brothers Daniel and Emilio Madero were arrested by the Huerta government on a charge of plotting against the federalists. They were taken to a prison at Vera Cruz and later when released escaped to a United States gunboat and crossed the United States.

Federalists ransacked the Madero homes in Monterrey, but never were able to find Benjamin Madero.

He is to command the second division of the Pacific fleet in Mexican waters. Naval instructor James Reed is also on board, and is to be the naval instructor of the fleet in Mexican waters.

National Honors for Sailor Dead at New York City

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Sailors and mariners who were killed at the occupation of Vera Cruz will be honored with funeral services of a national character on the arrival of their bodies aboard the United States cruiser Monterey at New York, the navy department announced today. From New York the bodies will be sent, at government expense, to the homes of relatives. Secretary Daniels said that naval honors would be accorded at burial services where desired.

LAY DOWN ARMS' IS STRIKE ORDER

only strikers but the mine guards.

The text of the proclamation is:

"Whereas, Under existing circumstances the possession of arms and ammunition by persons not in the military service of the United States tends to provoke disorder and to create domestic violence and hinders the restoration of normal conditions of peace and good order, I do, by the authority of the President of the service of the United States who have arms and ammunition in their possession or under their control, to deliver them forthwith to the officer at the place herein designated. Receipts will be issued for all arms and ammunition so delivered. The above applies to individuals, firms, associations and corporations."

The officer in command at each place where troops are stationed is charged to post the proclamation. Secretary Garrison's determination to issue the proclamation for the surrender of arms was reached after mature deliberation on reports from Major Holbrook at Trinidad. It was pointed out that in directing the surrender of arms to the army commanders at the respective stations the government assumes all responsibility for the collection of the property which individuals, firms, associations and firms hitherto have been guarding on their own account. Emphasis was laid on the fact that the sweeping terms of the proclamation, calling on all "not in military service of the United States" to surrender their arms, applies only to localities where the United States troops are present.

As the trouble districts are widely scattered throughout Colorado, no army officer will be in supreme command of the United States troops in the state. Secretary Garrison will issue his orders direct to the officers in command of the forces in the various localities.

DENVER, May 2.—Ominous reports reached Denver today from both the northern and southern coal fields. The question of disarmament of the two factions, mine guards and strikers, who have warred bitterly since the strike's inception, was the paramount feature.

Almost open declarations of defiance were made by union men to any potential order which would discriminate against the strikers, leaving the mine guards possessed of their munitions of battle. Early today, however, no declaration of policy had been made by the federal military authorities in the southern field.

In the northern field were reports of disorders in spite of the heavy state military guard there. Today the two non-union miners who suddenly disappeared last night while en route to visit their wives in Denver, had not been heard from. Grave fears for their safety were expressed by their fellows and mine officials, while the union men shrugged their shoulders in disclaimer of information concerning them. And meanwhile the Boulder county grand jury was breaking testimony concerning the recent Louisville attack which resulted in the death of one man.

News of the dispatch of an additional regiment and two more troops of federal cavalry into the strike zone was received with general approbation. It had been feared that at least 1000 troops would be needed to control the situation in all troubled zones.

GUARDS GIVE UP GUNS.

WALSINGORE, Colo., May 2.—The first move toward actual disarmament in the Southern Colorado strike zone was made today when it was announced that the guards of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company had agreed to deliver to the state regulators all the guns in possession of the guards at Walsingore and Rosette.

Boyer, pastor of the First Christian church of Oakland.

Wife Asks Police Search for Inventor

Fearing that Carl Olson, inventor of the letter and package mail box, has been enticed away and has met with foul play, his wife has set the police of the bay cities on a search for the man. Olson, according to his wife's story, has been missing since March 10. She declares that he has either been slain or is being held in a notorious prison in some sanatorium.

March 10 in response to a letter requesting him to attend a business conference. While there he informed his attorney, Hiram Casey, that he intended to call on Albrecht & Company, who are promoting his invention. The letter and package box company is capitalized at $250,000, the greater part of the stock being owned by Olson. He lived in Oakland and San Jose. The police are investigating the case.

TO OBTAIN VALUATION.

The second proposition to which we refer is to obtain an appointee is defined as set forth also in the following statement:

"Those appointed directors shall also be pledged to obtain from the State Railroad Commission, before taking any action upon the purchase or acquisition of a water supply, a valuation of the plant or project offered under the provisions of the Metropolitan Water District act."

"It appears to me that this pledge, entered in good faith from a majority of the board of directors, cannot fail to be effective in absolutely safeguarding the interests of the public. I have gladly signed my name to the document."

Rules Majority Owns Church Property

SAN JOSE, May 2.—Judge J. D. Welch yesterday decided that the majority faction in the Los Gatos Baptist church is entitled to the property of the organization because the rule of the Baptist church is that a majority rules. The minority faction, he decided, holds only a minority interest.

The case hinged on the teachings of the Rev. Robert Whitaker, the pastor of the church, who had been followed out of the church by a majority of the members and that because they were outside the teachings they were not entitled to hold the property. Judge Welch refused to consider the ecclesiastical phases of the case.

Sparks From Chimney Threatens Big Damage

Fire caused by flying sparks from a chimney threatened the neighborhood at Seventeenth and Grove streets and caused considerable damage to the home of Mrs. M. G. McKean, 1707 Grove street. The roof of the structure was afire when the department responded to a still alarm turned in by neighbors. The blaze was not under control until 24, 1912, is already crowded with people and a considerable portion of the roof was removed. The damage amounted to about $100.

CHARITY REJOICES

King's Daughters Home Receives $10,000 Check as Mrs. Palmer's Bequest.

With the announcement of a bequest of $10,000, made by the late Mrs. Annie Palmer, to the King's Daughters of California Home for Incurables, there was general rejoicing on the part of the directors and the patients of that institution yesterday morning. When the check was received, Mrs. Matilda Brown, president of the home, has issued the following letter in which she reveals the sentiment of the King's Daughters upon receipt of the gift:

May 1, 1914, will ever stand out as a red letter day in the wonderful history of the King's Daughters of California Home for Incurables. A little more than 20 years ago, through the generous contribution of San Francisco brought the information that a bequest had been left to the home by the late Mrs. Annie Palmer, who died in 1912. There was a sense of deep appreciation by the directors at that time for the mortgage which had been placed upon the new building and property selected upon those who are carrying on this much needed institution for the incurably sick. So when a check for $10,000 was received and paid to the bank, yesterday the directors and all connected with the home with one accord said "Praise God." The time was recalled when Mrs. Laura Al-

WORK WEARS ON THE KIDNEYS

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done
Great Service for People
Who Work in Oakland.

Many Oakland people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work by filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, and bad backs. Their effective work is convincing proof of merit.

PADRE PREDICTS MAY HEAT WAVES

Four Warm Spells Will Break
Monotony, Says Father
Ricard.

SANTA CLARA, May 2.—According to Father Ricard, head of the meteorological observatory at the University here, May will be a warm month. The forecast shows that, before the entrance of June, there will be four distinct warm spells, with no rainfall for the month. The first part of the month is scheduled to be somewhat rough, followed by mild weather with special hot waves distributed as follows:

May 5 to 8, 12 to 15, 19 to 22 and 23 to 26.

The storm forces will move from the northwest to the south and southwest, with no rainfall. The general trend of the temperature will be upward, caused by the low pressure areas in the south and high pressures in the north.

Following are scheduled days of new depressions on the coast for the month:

May 2, 5, 7, 9, 12, 14, 16, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27; June 1, 8, and 9.

These dates were calculated after Father Ricard's usual manner of forecasting, in conformity to the three-day law discovered at this observatory.

In order to prove the unerring accuracy of these new meteorological laws, a summary of April predictions and actual disturbances is appended:

ENTIRE COAST COVERED.

April 4—Disturbances entering over the northwest between Roseburg and Prince Rupert, also over Arizona.

April 4—Deepening over the whole coast.

April 11—Depression entering the north (see U. S. weather map). The Canadian map has an entirely different story. Hope the observers were not asleep.

April 12—Same over Alberta.

April 12—New trouble entering over British Columbia.

April 13—Same is now well formed.

April 14—Same persists.

April 15—Advancing southwestward.

April 16—Sits in two.

April 18—New storm landing over British Columbia, also another beginning in the south.

April 20—Same has gone over to Alberta, and the southern one is well established over Nevada.

April 22—New depression over the northwest.

April 24—Same moving eastward.

April 26—New storm slips over to Arizona.

April 27—A new storm wedges in through British Columbia.

April 28—Becomes cyclonic over lower California and Arizona. High pressure in the north and severe northern blast.

April 29—Pressure begins to fall over the northwest.

Now our predictions by sun-spots and faculae were:

xxApril 2, April 4-5, April 7-8, April 12, April 18, April 22, April 25, April 27, April 30, April 31.

Results shown by weather maps:

April 2-8, xxApril 4, April 7, April 12, April 15, April 18, April 22, April 25, April 27, April 30, April 31.

MAKE REDUCTIONS IN NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Substantial reductions in the navy department appropriations were made during debates on the measure in the House yesterday. Points of order knocked out a proposed $1,000,000 increase in the authorized limit of cost of the dry dock at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; an item of $225,000 for the navy yard here, and a $200,000 appropriation for a building ship at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The administration's two battleship building program probably will be voted on tomorrow.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would be cold. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — MRS. It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. CHURCH DOORS TO
OPEN TO MASSES

Crusade in Behalf of All Sects and Non-Attendants Is Popular.

(By REV. D. W. CALFEE.)

The injunction "Go to Church Sunday," May 17, is being heard on all sides throughout the east bay cities. It is the local crusade in a world-wide movement to bring the non-attendant "back to the church." The local committee has secured the co-operation of all churches in this city and gala Sunday services are being arranged.

While May 17 is the big day and the "Go to Church Sunday" in this city, the work will be kept up and every effort made to conserve the results of the campaign.

The movement is absolutely non-sectarian; neither has it a proselyting purpose. All irrespective of denomination, class, condition or color, are receiving invitations to attend the church of their choice on Sunday, May 17. The home of the humble is not passed by and the abode of the well-to-do is not skipped in the canvass. Everywhere the visitors report a kindly reception.

The local go to church committee wants every man, woman and child to come to church Sunday, May 17, in order that they may be shown that the church is abreast of the times.

HUNTER'S POINT DOCK PROJECT IN DANGER

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The appropriation in the naval bill, providing a government lease at $50,000 annually for six years for navy purposes of a drydock, to be constructed by the Union Iron Works at Hunter's Point, in all probability will be knocked out of the bill in the House on a point of order by one of the "little navy" representatives, five of whom, headed by Representative Witherspoon of Mississippi, signed a minority report to the naval bill, objecting to many items, the Hunter's Point dock being among the "objections."

As the appropriation is new legislation, it is subject to a point of order, and no doubt one of the "little navy" Congressmen will be on hand to object to the appropriation.

Representative Kahn expected this last night and endeavored to prevent such action. If knocked out in the House, the Senate will restore the appropriation to the bill.

IMPROVEMENTS ON WATERFRONT, AIM

South East Oakland Improves Campaign for Betterments.

FRUITVALE, May 2.—Waterfront improvements in the annex district are being taken up by the South East Oakland Improvement Club. The new organization, which was formed recently to help in opening up the populous and rapidly increasing communities on or near the waterfront in East Oakland, Fruitvale, Pithsburg, Melrose and Elmhurst, is proving a big factor in the welfare of that section.

Extension and improvement of the docking accommodations on the East Oakland waterfront so that big ships will be able to load and unload, the maintaining of the Alaska salmon sheds headquarters in Oakland and the building of a bulkhead wharves which will connect with all the wharves are among the objects of the South East Oakland Improvement Club.

Improvements undertaken are among the largest undertaken by an Oakland improvement organization, but the club is not a "big" one. It is a new club which will carry considerable weight in whatever matter it takes up.

Officers of the South East Oakland Improvement Club are: President, A. Wrenschold; Secretary, C. F. Kinsey; Treasurer, J. J. Minkew.

GIRL'S FRIEND CHARGES NEW STYLE OF HOLD-UP

PITTSBURGH, May 2.—Something new in hold-ups is revealed in the arrest of an attractive young woman, who calls herself Mrs. J. H. Foster, and a smooth young man, who gave the name of W. R. Stevenson, but admits it is fictitious and who says his father is a minister in Germantown, Philadelphia.

Stevenson says he used to do a vaudeville turn. Mrs. Foster says she used to be on the stage "many years ago." She is 19.

Walker Spies was sitting in the Pennsylvania station waiting room, when he noticed a pretty girl opposite him weeping.

"Is there anything I can do?" he asked.

There was. She had missed her train and she needed somebody to tell her where she might stay for the night. "I've read of girls getting into trouble here," she explained. "And you're so kind."

They left the station. In a few minutes, according to Spies, she felt a strange sensation, and lost track of things. When his mind cleared he found the young woman gone, as were his watch, raincoat and $5.

The police arrested Mrs. Foster this morning in a downtown hotel, where she had been staying with Stevenson. Stevenson was arrested in the street on a description furnished by Russell Lockwood, who says he was robbed of his watch, cash, stockpin and other jewelry while in a mysterious, mental state, induced by Mrs. Foster and Stevenson.

FROM COAL HEAVER TO GET-RICH-QUICK FAKER

SEATTLE, Wash., May 2.—"It's fortunate for you in this particular instance that you're a fool," remarked Justice Fred C. Brown to A. G. Galvin, convicted of having swindled 104 men out of varying sums by a fake employment agency.

"If you were a man of ordinary intelligence I'd give you six months; but you're mentally deficient—nobody's home—and I feel sorry for you. So I'll let you off with 60 days."

Two months ago Galvin was a coal heaver. Later he became a teamster. Then he started a school of navigation, although he never had been to sea in his life. Later he became a land promoter, located the mythical town of Bolton on Hood car and afterward merged land business with an employment agency.

At his offices, Galvin was alleged to have induced 104 men in two days, promising them various jobs at Bolton. They were to sail on the Seaboard, and when the laborers could not find a boat of that name, they complained to the police.

In his operations the ex-coal heaver was unusual. He refused to accept money from numerous applicants, claiming they were physically unfit for the jobs sought. He acquired an automobile and dashed about the city with the easy confidence of a Wallingford.

GIVE LIFE SAVINGS TO CREDITORS OF FATHER

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 2.—Two daughters of S. L. Craig, a local loan agent, who is alleged to be $10,000 short on his accounts with clients, have come to his rescue with their life savings, and as a result, it is said that those who have claims against Craig will be paid.

The young women, Misses Ellen and Virginia Craig, have contributed what they have saved from their earnings, and have asked that the money be turned over to the creditors of their father.

It is said that in addition to the money made by the daughters, the father had some $10,000 in cash.

Refreshments were served on the grounds while the committee in charge of the fete had tents, tables and chairs placed throughout the grounds.

The crowd enjoyed the affair every whit as much as the children and entered with zest into the games and amusements. ## THOUSANDS PASS BY $3000 JEWEL BRACELET YORK, Pa., May 2.—A platinum bracelet with twenty-four sparkling diamonds, eight large and sixteen small ones, was picked up on the hillside overlooking the little borough of Spring Grove, eleven miles from York, yesterday afternoon, by Paul Freed, a gardener's son.

The bracelet is worth $3000.

It lay on an exposed tuft of grass all winter, and yet of the thousands of men and women who passed none had eyes sharp enough to detect the little sparkles that flickered as the sunlight shone upon them.

It remained for a tuft of sprouting alfalfa to raise it to a plainer view, as though anxious to have its whereabouts made known.

The bracelet, a wedding gift, belonged to Mrs. Ruth Runk, of Baltimore, and was lost last winter during a coasting party, at which Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Gladfelter were hosts. Mrs. Runk was a guest at the Gladfelter home.

When she dropped the treasure, the hill was scraped and looked over many times, but the bracelet could not be found.

Yesterday young Freed went out to search for the jewel and soon came back with it.

Word was immediately sent to Baltimore and Freed was liberally rewarded.

HANDS OUT GOLD PIECES INSTEAD OF NICKELS

KENOSHA, Wis., May 2.—The police of Kenosha spent a whole day searching for a bag of gold. It was real gold at that. On the preceding afternoon an 11-year-old boy had come to one of the local banks and asked for $10 worth of nickels for change. By an error on the part of the clerk he was given a bag containing 50 new $5 gold pieces.

The mistake was not discovered until after banking hours, and then it was reported to the police. Chief of Police O'Hara started to make a census of all the 11-year-old boys employed in Kenosha.

Late that night the bag of gold was declared to be had planned to return it to the bank in the morning, believing that the bank knew of the mistake and had not worried about the money being returned.

The chief saved the man the trouble of a trip down town and from the bank the 200 nickels were sent out by a special messenger.

THEN and NOW

Just one hundred and twenty-five years ago today was the first presidential inauguration in the United States. The ceremony took place on the balcony of Federal hall in Wall street, New York, which city was then the federal capital. Dawn of the inauguration day was greeted with a salvo of artillery and practically all of the 50,000 inhabitants of New York and many visitors from other cities thronged the streets. The church bells were rung and at noon a troop of horse, two companies of grenadiers and highlanders in kilts escorted the President-elect in a coach of state to the scene of the ceremonies. Livingston, chancellor of New York state, administered the oath of office. Washington's fervent response was met with cheers "Long live George Washington, President of the United States," from thousands of throngs. From Federal Hall Washington went to the neighboring St. Paul's church to attend divine services. Artillery roared and bells rang throughout the afternoon and evening. At dusk the streets and gala balls were held which continued into the following May day.

Today on the steps of the United States sub-treasury building, the exact spot where Washington stood when he took the oath of office, stands his bronze statue, whose legs have been worn shiny by the urchins of Wall street, who have tried to climb up to touch the bronze hand of the father of the country. The point today is called the monetary nerve center of the country. The trees which shaded the narrow thoroughfare in Washington's day have all gone, and all about are buildings whose stony monotony towers several hundred feet above the scene. The land where Washington stood sold at $2.75 a square foot at that time; today it is valued at $800 a square foot, and is one of the most valuable tracts in the world. The building about it are said to represent a real value of $300,000,000, and in their vaults there quietly repose about a sixth of all the money in the United States.

A stone's throw away St. Paul's church stands with its back to the streets and gale balls were held when Washington knelt there for his first prayers as President of the United States.

ELK CELEBRATION PLANS COMPLETE

Richmond Now Awaiting Hosts of Guests; Vanguard of "Bills" Arriving.

The lodge and the city now await their guests who are expected to number into the thousands.

The electrical street decorations were tested out last evening and were given a bonanza by all who were down town on either side of the city. The vanguard of the celebrants began arriving last evening and the Elks were greeted by a hail from far and near and a "gold time" in the lodge spread his artiles under the mahogany of the club room and repeated Roosevelt's famous dictum: "Be glad to be here."

The main body of visitors are expected about 8 o'clock when the Sacramento and Stockton boys will "breeze in." The Vallejo special steamer is due at the quarry wharf at 7:35 o'clock and the other main delegations by the Southern Pacific at 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

The White Oakland drill team of Oakland will have a prominent place at the head of the line. The Berkeley and Oakland Elks will each bring a band and the Richmond concert band has also been engaged. The "White Queen" will depart from Washington avenue and the parade will halt there for these exhibitions.

Mayor O. R. Ludewig, Chief of Police James Arnold, Exalted Ruler H. G. Biggs, Past Exalted Ruler A. C. Lang and C. L. Abbott, Downer and E. M. Tilden will ride in the first auto at the head of the parade while the visiting grand officers will occupy the second and third cars.

TRI-COUNTY FERRY COM. TO MEET

Gathering to Be Called for the Sole Purpose of Establishing Ferry Service.

RICHMOND, May 2.—A call for a meeting of the executive committee of the tri-county ferry service from the Marin and Contra Costa county shores has been called by Senator James C. Jordan, R. D. 32, Pacific of the city and county's office, and C. O. Clark of the street department, a special committee appointed to draw up the system, presented reports. Harrison S. Robinson, head of the Civil Service Commission, presided.

Jordan in his report outlined a plan for a budget that would tend to get away from the old "blanket form" which makes sweeping estimates. This, declared the expert, will tend to reduce municipal expenditures, and give no leeway for extravagance. City Auditor George Gross and Commissioner John Forrest explained the system in detail. Secretary William H. Jordan, representing Mayor Frank K. Mott, attended the meeting, and Secretary A. L. Hannaford represented the Board of Education. The committee was instructed by vote to prepare detailed plans for the new system.

COME let us make believe. It is play time all over the world, and dearly does everyone now love to spend happy hours in the enchanted land of Make-Believe. In the days of one's childhood one always played one was someone else. One "played lady," or one was a great Princess—and the Land of Make-Believe was often a far more real place than just the happen in "the Land of Make-Believe."—Beautiful things, and life was only fair and sweet in this enchanted land of the imagination. It is a happy time for the world when men have learned to be young again, and they are once more children playing all together in the great happy land of Make-Believe.

This is the land where all the wonderful pageants are, and they have truly been remarkable, in the magnitude of the preparations, and in the success which has attended their many presentations all over the world.

England has been the home of the pageant since early times, all the little villages having their own customs. And from England the pageant seems to have spread all over the world—making its first appearance in our New England cities.

The pageant problem for the great exposition next year, now confronts our city, for it is expected that the notable pageants will be given on this side of the bay, for here is the ideal background. The Stratford-on-Avon players were wildly enthusiastic over Oakland and its magnificent scenic opportunities for wonderful pageants. There will, of course, be all sorts of smaller games, and smaller pageants planned by the Playground Committee for next year—and Mosswood park will be our pride and joy as we show it to our thousands of visitors. But the great pageant which the whole state will come to see must be of wider scope, and include many hundred people—the entire cast in the pageant to be chosen from this side of the bay.

It was thought at first that this great pageant might be a concerted club movement, but that is not practicable. The clubs have their own work to do—and they will besides have a great deal of entertaining to do. Those who are considering the movement think it ought to be in the hands of women of the smart set, who have presumably more leisure and who will work out a pageant of such magnitude that it will challenge the attention of the entire country.

And the subject ought to be chosen in the near future, for hundreds of people will require time to choose the characters they will represent, and to secure costumes. And pageants go in groups, of course, and whole associations will need to develop leading ideals. Already the subject of the pageant is being discussed everywhere—and among the leaders of the smart set there is a very general desire for something on a scale almost unprecedented on the coast.

A splendid pageant in the morning, ending with a great fete around Lake Merritt, or a pageant in the afternoon, with fireworks—an evening fete, or a magnificent ball, are all among the themes discussed. New York has had wonderful balls, all part of the Land of Make-Believe. There have been "Balls of All Nations," "Historical Venice," and those immensely amusing "Cubist" and "Futurist" affairs.

St. Louis is to give a big pageant in the last week of May, planned by her smart set, and 7500 people are in the cast.

The history of St. Louis is to be represented. There are to be the Mound Builders, Indians with wigwams, and Indian dances, De Soto and the Spanish gold seekers, the Frenchmen Joliet, La Salle, and Marquette, the Louisiana purchase, the Civil War, Peace. Over 100,000 people are preparing for these wonderful days in the "Land of Make-Believe."

That is very much the same kind of pageant that we will have to plan here—with thousands taking part in it—and thousands more showing the greatest interest in it. If only we can choose the proper subject! We have had most successful pageants here—these of course in a small way. The Parthenia, which is an annual affair at Berkeley, given by the college women, is a most colorful affair, and wonderfully successful, given as it is among the great oaks that outline the college campus.

The "Ball of Nations," to be held in Machinery Hall across the bay, has grown from a simple plan to one of large developments.

The so-called Four Hundred are planning it—but four hundred thousand may enjoy it, if they will. Thus we become truly democratic in our important these days. The big year, and if we need a leader, there ball is to have for adornment unusual paintings, statuary, and wonderful trees, and the electric lighting will produce marvelous effects.

There are to be three queens—Mrs. Frederick Kohl, Mrs. Clement Tobin, and Mrs. Edgar Peixotto, all of whom have been queens of the Mardi Gras, and they will, of course, have attendant courts.

Mrs. Kohl, who is now recovering from the accident to her knee, which has kept her a partial prisoner for so long, will be Josephine, the historic Empress of the French, and her court will be of course, that of Bonaparte.

Mrs. Clement Tobin will represent the days of the Caesars—and her court will be of the time of the full glory of Rome, and Mrs. Peixotto will take everyone to the Far East, where she is to reign in the heart of India, as a wonderful Mahatene.

Ten thousand people are expected to attend the ball, which will be one of the greatest affairs of the year. We can have a ball like that on this side of the bay when the Auditorium is finished.

The Portola festivals across the bay have shown us what may be done in the way of colorful Pageants, and are many women who might easily and well qualify for the place. No woman desires to be what was formerly known as "a social leader," such as Mrs. Astor was a few years ago. Then a leader was a social arbiter, and to be on her "list" meant social prestige—you might truly consider yourself a member of the exclusive smart set. But those conditions are not possible now—for a woman fitted to be a social leader would be bound by no such conventions. She has too much intellectual ability, and we hope too much good heart.

But there must be leaders in great social movements, such as pageants, and Ball of all Nations, and other things expected of us in great exposition years.

Standing prominently among those who might lead the way is Mrs. William C. Henshaw, who has such wide horizons, and who is so universally admired and loved. Mr. and Mrs. William Henshaw have been around many years ago, through Mrs. Sharon's efforts, the Woman's Exchange was established, which has helped hundreds of deserving women to solve the problem of self support.

Beautiful Mrs. Brown has followed in her mother's footsteps, and she can carry to a successful conclusion, any Duffies, the Guy Earls, the Victor Metcalfs, the Whitneys, the Kales.

Of all the many women of our smart set, Mrs. Victor Metcalf has had the widest social experience. As the wife of the Secretary of the Navy, Mrs. Metcalf had unusual opportunities in Washington. She was a great friend of the Roosevelts, and her tact and charm of manner made her very popular with the entire diplomatic corps. She was the youngest of the "Cabinet Ladies," and her delightful personality

Edith Clapp, daughter of Professor Metcalf, and Mrs. E. B. Clapp and a favorite in the younger set of Berkeley before her marriage last month. Mr. and Mrs. Snook left for Wyoming immediately after the wedding and are settled in their new home there, where Professor and Mrs. Clapp will visit them on their way to Europe next summer.

Miss Lella Kenney's engagement to William Addison Ridout, chief engineer of the Manchuria, was a recent announcement. She is an unusually beautiful girl who made her debut two years ago. It was while on a tour of the Orient last winter with her grandmother, Mrs. Walcott friends in a most helpful fashion, and their wide experience means much, not only to themselves, but to their many friends.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

There was genuine regret when Mr. Metcalf's ill health made it necessary for them to leave Washington, but they have taken up life among the old friends in a most helpful fashion, and their wide experience means much, not only to themselves, but to their many friends.

HOTEL OAKLAND SCENE OF MANY AFFAIRS.

The Hotel Oakland has been the scene of many most attractive teas recently, well-known hostesses planning to entertain there often in honor of some friend.

Mrs. Thomas Crellin was a hostess of Tuesday, entertaining in a most hospitable way a number of her old friends. Mrs. Crellin and her daughter, Miss Mona Crellin, have spent one of the very beautiful affairs of the spring season. The young couple are expected home from their honeymoon in a few days and will be guests at the Lowden residence in Piedmont. Mrs. Allen will take her place among the prominent young matrons of society. Mrs. John Cedric Snook was Miss large project, she might be called upon to manage.

There is Mrs. Minor Goodall, bright and clean, very popular with everyone, who could be depended upon to have a large following, for anything in which she tried to lead the way. Two families in Oakland—the Wallace Eversons and the Chabots—are very popular, and the women of both families can easily carry any project in which they are vitally interested. The same thing is true of the very popular Crellin family. In fact, there are leaders in plenty on our side of the bay, and an alignment of many families might easily make something extremely potent in planning the big things expected of us in the not far distant future.

Among the families who might be depended upon to make a very strong combination are: The Alexanders, the Cogans, the Becks, the Havens, the Reagas, the Sharons, the Chabots, the Eversons, the Moores, the F. M. Goodfellows, the Walshes, the William Pierce Johnsons, the McNears, the Schillings, the Goodalls, the P. E. Rowles, the Poseys, the Creeds, the Tituses, the Mac Dermots, the Charles R. Crellin) are not occupying the Crellin home in Alice street, as Mrs. Crellin prefers to spend a great deal of time on the ranch near Napa, where Lloyd Crellin is achieving so notable a success.

The tea at the Oakland was delightfully informal and it meant a reunion of people who know each other very well indeed, a meeting of mutually good friends. Mrs. Crellin is always assisted in entertaining her guests by her attractive daughters, Mrs. Mona Crellin, Mrs. Wallace Everett and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald. Mrs. George Wheaton (Ida Belle)

DANSANT TO CAP MAY FETE CLIMAX.

Lo, once again the dansant! No matter how far down any road we go, we inevitably find ourselves face to face with the dansant. That is what has happened to the dear Ladies' Relief Association, and everybody is glad that it has happened. They planned the most beautiful spring fete in the world, but everybody clamored for dancing just the same, and so they had to yield to what was really a general demand and add a dansant to the plans for the fete. And now the announcement is made that the fete will go on as originally planned at Piedmont Park and there will be a dansant in the evening at the Oakland.

Victor Reiter, with his usual well-tried courtesy, is lending every aid possible and it may be necessary to use the dining room as well as the ballroom for the dancing. In that case there will, of course, be two orchestras.

Tables are being rapidly reserved for the dansant, which will be on the evening of May 15. Mrs. William C. Henshaw will have a table for this. Mrs. W. C. Henshaw will entertain at a table, so will Mrs. Williamson. Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton will be one of the hostesses of the evening, as will Mrs. Frank K. Mott. Mrs. Isaac Regan will lend her aid. She was one of the first matrons to belong to the Ladies' Relief Association.

The tables help along every worthy movement and so do the Motters, and one hears that already a large number of tables have been reserved by prominent people of our city. And many are to come from across the bay, for dear to all hearts is the happy dansant of today.

It will be a fitting close to a day of joy at the park. One hears that Mrs. Frank K. Mott is making an ideal chairman and under her able direction plans are being rapidly formulated for the great May Day fete. It is said that there is one corner on one of the Paris boulevards on which, if you wait long enough, you will see every one you ever knew go by. The same thing will be true of the fete at Piedmont—if you sit on the veranda of the clubhouse you will see all the world go by. In the first place, there is a long list of assistants—all the chairmen of the booths having impressed into their service all the delightful young girls they know. Piedmont Park will look very foreign indeed on the 15th, for brightly colored tents and booths will strike a note of gaiety everywhere. For children must have certain things before "the party" is a success. There must, of course, be popcorn, peanuts, ice cream, kites, tops, whips and balloons before the average little boy will even pretend to have a good time—and one hears that all these things are to be in readiness for him. Then there is that delightful tribe of donkeys, headed by mischievous "Peanuts," who will open gates and lead his comrades far away to pastures new. But "Peanuts" will not be opening any gates on the sixteenth, he will be working for his living!

The May Fete is very reminiscent of the old-time fetes at Arbor Villa, when all the world and its children assembled in the big lawns, and staid there until sunset and the wonderful "Battle of Flowers" warned everyone that it was time to go home.

All the world will, in these later days, go for a May Fete in the foothills, and the world will hearken to the message sent by the good German philosopher, Froebel—"Come let us play with our children!"

ORRICK-DOWNEY WEDDING DELIGHTS SOCIETY FOLK.

One of the most delightful weddings of the week was that of Miss Mary Downey and Mr. William Orrick, which took place on Thursday evening at the bride's home in Berkeley. It was a very beautiful wedding planned along perfect lines. The bride inherited a large number of young people and there were many relatives present, especially among the Scott family of San Francisco. Mrs. Oliver S. Orrick, the mother of the groom was a sister of the late Irving Scott.

William Orrick has been one of the most successful of the younger lawyers, achieving the distinction of belonging to the firm of Goodfellow and Ellis at a comparatively young age, and the firm name reads now "Goodfellow, Ellis and Orrick. Young Mr. Orrick is regarded as one of the best land experts in San Francisco.

Miss Mary Orrick has long been regarded on this side of the bay, and she made a most lovely bride. Her gown was very beautiful, the handsome white satin being completely covered with rare Brussels lace, and the veil was arranged in a most artistic manner. The cap made a lovely coronet, a crown around the bride's beautiful blonde hair, her only ornament was a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

The bridesmaids were exceedingly dainty studies in pink—their gowns being very picturesque with the new panner effects, and each attendant wore a very becoming veil of pink chiffon.

The presents were very elaborate, all of them, as one wedding guest remarked "Huge." They were very valuable and elaborate.

But this special bride and groom have a storm of rice coming to them in the future. When the going-away time came, down the stairs ran the bride and groom, and of course they were met by a perfect hailstorm of rice, as they ran hastily through the hall. The rice was all gone, and it turned out that this was not the bride and groom at all—but Mrs. Hugh Goodfellow, sister of the bride, and Harry Scott of San Francisco—and then, slowly came the real bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. William Orrick and there was not any rice for them at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrick have gone to Europe on their wedding trip, and when they return, Mr. Orrick is to build a beautiful home in Piedmont for his bride.

Among the beautiful gowns worn at the Orrick-Downey wedding were those of Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Oliver S. Orrick, Mrs. Murray Orrick, Mrs. Irving Burrell, Mrs. F. C. Coogan, Mrs. John J. Donovan, Miss Elsie Everson, Mrs. Hugh Goodfellow, Mrs. Walter Martin, Miss Elizabeth Orrick, Miss Marjorie Coogan, Miss Helen Coogan, Mrs. Charles Bates, Miss Louisiana Scott, Miss Edith Goodfellow, Mrs. Wallace Alexander, Miss Edith Beck.

READINGS FROM NEW BOOKS AND STORIES.

Among the activities that specially appeal to the smart set this season are readings from new plays, or interpretative recitals of operas.

The reading from the poems and plays of Rabindranath Tagore by Miss Cora Genevieve Ramsden in the art was opened by Mr. Taraknath Das, formerly of the University of Calcutta, and now of the University of California. Mr. Das appeared in Hindu costume and gave a brief sketch of the life and personality of Rabindranath Tagore. During his remarks he chanted certain Sanskrit hymns, afterwards giving the translation of the verses for the benefit of the audience. Miss Ramsden's reading was in every way finished and pleasing. She first gave a selection of poems from Tagore's several books entitled "Gitanjali," "The Crescent Moon" and "The Gardener" after which she read with much dramatic effect Tagore's play entitled "Chitra."

JUNE AND ROSES—AND ALSO WEDDINGS.

"Oh what is so rare as a day in June? Then if ever come perfect days" Perhaps that is the reason so many be that of Miss Edith Harmon and Cleveland Whipple, which is set for June first. Miss Harmon is the daughter of the A. K. P. Harmons, and she comes from one of the pioneer families of our city. Her aunt is Mrs. George Edwards of Berkeley, who was formerly Miss Harmon and who entertained extensively in the old Harmon home on Webster street.

The A. K. P. Harmons have for many years lived in Fruitvale, and the bride has chosen to have her wedding in the old family home there. Preparations also go on for the wedding of Mr. Fillmore and Miss Pearl Cawston. The plans are very elaborate and the wedding will be one of the most important of the June dates.

A coming wedding that is attracting much attention on both sides of the bay is that of Grayson Hinckley and Miss Helen Stone.

and Mr. Hinckley will take place at the residence of the bride's home on Broadway, and only relatives and intimate friends are to be present at the ceremony.

The maid of honor will be Miss Helen Hinckley, a sister of the groom, and one of the bride's dearest friends. Miss Hinckley has spent a great deal of time with the Stone girls in their home across the bay.

The bride has chosen for her maids of honor her sisters, Miss Marian Stone, and Miss Hanning of Los Angeles, who was a classmate in the grammar school of New York. The young ladies are going to Nevada and they will make their permanent home in the Hinckley ranch at Beowawe.

The Exbert Stones will as usual establish their summer camp on the banks of the Russian river. They have gone there for the past three summers, and the young people always entertain many friends there to chronicle. After all as the weeks go by there is only a change of activities to chronicle. The brides-elect, and debutantes are always prominent members of the social circles, and for them entertainments go steadily on.

Pretty Marian Rodolph spent many weeks in the Islands this spring, but she is at home now, and she has sent out cards for a bridge afternoon in honor of two of her girl friends, Miss Pearl Cawston and Miss Helen Dabney. Miss Rodolph will entertain for them in her East Oakland home.

The Misses Carol and Madeline afternoon, and they will entertain in honor of two of the very successful debutantes of the season, Miss Allene Edoff and Miss Adele Scott. Miss Edoff is very pretty, and her sweetness of disposition is a rare charm. Miss Scott is one of the most brilliant girls in the social world. She has a fine sense of humor, and she is an extremely clever conversationalist, with a happy optimism which is a real joy to her friends.

The Pardees are among the few families who still linger in the old homestead. This was the home in which Dr. Pardee's boyhood was passed, so the family has lingered in the downtown region. One hears rumors, however, of a migration to the hills in the not far distant future. The Misses Pardee are very popular girls, and their card party will be one of the interesting events of the late spring.

OLD-TIME OAKLANDERS INTERESTED IN WEDDING.

Old time families in Oakland will be greatly interested in a wedding which took place in Berkeley this week—that of George Dobyne of Boston and Mrs. Margaret Koehler. Mr. Dobyne is a very wealthy manufacturer of Boston, and Mrs. Koehler is the niece of Mrs. Warren Olney senior, with whom she has been spending some months. Mrs. Koehler was formerly Miss Birdie Fair, well known in Oakland. She was a very beautiful girl, and she married Mr. Koehler, a St. Louis millionaire. After his death she came to live quietly in Berkeley with her aunt, Mrs. Olney. The wedding of Mr. Dobyne and Mrs. Koehler was a great surprise to the many friends of the bride. Another wedding of interest to the many friends of the Olney family was that of Mr. Easton and Miss Ethel Olney. Mr. Easton has a charming home in Southern California, but his family is well known in both Berkeley and Oakland. The bride recently spent many months in Europe, having made an extended trip abroad with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Olney Sr.

The wedding was a home affair, and among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. Giles Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Olney, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Olney.

MISS GRACE EWING IS CHARMING BRIDE.

A wedding that attracted a great deal of attention on both sides of the bay this week, was that of Miss Grace Ewing, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll Ewing, and Mr. Joseph Hunt.

The family of the groom is well known in business circles all along the coast, and the Ewings have many friends to be deeply interested in the wedding of their daughter. Both of the young people are exceedingly popular, so the church was filled to overflowing with the young friends of Mr. Hunt and his bride, and there were representatives in the church from almost all the prominent families on this side of the bay. The bride is a very lovely winsome girl, whom all her family and friends have always called "Tommy," and it goes without saying that "Tommy Ewing" has been a favorite with old and young. Her wedding was lovely in many ways. It was beautifully planned in the church, and was a brilliant affair.

The bride's gown was exceedingly handsome, and made along most becoming lines, and Mrs. Ewing, who has an exceedingly sweet personality, looked young enough to be a sister of the bride. After the wedding at the church there was a reception in the home at Linda Vista. It was attended by the two families, but the bride attendants, and by the intimate friends of the young people.

For the latter, one hears there was simply a wilderness of presents—they came from far and near—from all over the coast, and they completely overflowed all the space allotted to

SEEKING TO LOWER TELEPHONE RATES

The Mayor and City Council of Berkeley Ask New Details From Company.

BERKELEY, May 2.—Efforts to secure in this city lower and more equitable telephone charges have been commenced by Mayor Heywood and the city council, and as a preliminary, the council has requested the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to submit a statement of its earnings and expenditures.

The plan of Mayor Heywood and the council was outlined by the former in a statement he issued as follows:

Tumbles Through Skylight; "Get Out!" Is Cry of Maidens

BERKELEY, May 2.—John Lynd, janitor of the Hotel Mohr, ventured yesterday afternoon along the ledge surrounding a skylight to water the geraniums that grew there.

The janitor was on the ledge when he was startled by the cry of several female voices belonging to girls employed in a hairdressing parlor.

"Get out of here," cried Miss Theresa Kerby, one of them, when she had recovered from her alarm. "No men are allowed in here."

Southern Pacific Fights Unmerging.

In its answer to the action filed by the Attorney-General for the divorce of the Central and Southern Pacific lines, the latter corporation makes some strong points in favor of the present arrangement. The principal declaration is that the lines of the two roads were built and operated under one control, exercised by the Central Pacific, prior to April, 1885, and since that time assumed by the Southern Pacific. That an order of separation would not only impair the public service, but would also result in great detriment and injury to the two companies through the enforced expenditure of large sums for connecting lines and duplication of terminals. That the government of the United States is arranging a settlement or an $85,000,000 subsidy owed by the Central Pacific, repeatedly and finally recognized the joint responsibility of the Southern and Central Pacific. That the government knew this sum could not be paid out of the earnings of the Central Pacific alone and the President of the United States and other officials sanctioned the participation of the Southern Pacific in the obligation. That through the arrangements for a settlement of this debt the government received $58,812,715 it would not otherwise have received and the Southern Pacific incurred heavy obligations it would not have incurred had it known the arrangements were not to continue.

Then it is held that the delay in beginning the action is a bar to proceedings, negligence being alleged.

Finally it is set up that in 1885 the lines of the Central Pacific were leased by the Southern Pacific for a term of ninety-nine years and that since the entire system has been operated, not as the holdings of two companies, but one, and it is intimated that a forced cancellation of this lease means confiscation.

The answer is a strong legal document. It was expected to be such, because the Southern Pacific has eminent talent in its brigade of counsel. And no one need be surprised if the company wins its point, even in the face of other decisions disrupting combines. For in this case the element of competition is absent. The Southern Pacific lines start at Ogden and run to California, where they branch in various directions, north and south, with the feeders necessary to supply traffic of all kinds. It is a continuous line to Oakland from Ogden. If the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific, competing lines, were merged, dissolution would be proper. But in this instance there is no such condition.

It is an age of consolidation. Consolidation means reduction of expenses and better service. As an illustration: Thirty years ago a passenger leaving New York on the Erie, transferred at Buffalo to the Grand Trunk or some other line. At Chicago he transferred to the Northwestern. At Council Bluffs he took the Union Pacific. At Ogden he took the Central Pacific and at Sacramento another line to Oakland. He was changing cars perpetually. Now he gets on the train at New York and with but one change, Chicago—this being made for sanitary reasons, the idea being to give opportunity for cleaning cars—can ride through to Oakland on a trans-continental line. Thirty years ago the rates of fare were much higher than now, almost double. Consolidation has brought about this result. For while fares have decreased the cost of operation has increased. That which applies to passengers applies to freight.

California does not want this unmerger. Its great commercial bodies have protested against it, and commercial bodies are in touch with the active conditions and know the needs of the commonwealth better than the individuals. Laying aside the question of equity claimed by the railroad and abandoning entirely its contentions as set up in its plea for protection to money invested in leasing and its rights derived by paying the government millions for something it claims it now has a right to retain, and getting down to the question of plain economics, it appears that it would be best for the State that the present arrangement be not disturbed. We cannot see what good is to be accomplished, while on the other hand we can note that a segregation means immense expenditures, and all these are paid in the end by the ultimate consumer, the shipper and the passenger, and the Great Infinitesimal knows the common masses have burdens enough as it is.

Wealthy New Yorkers, following an example set by John D. Rockefeller Jr., who is building an eight-story home, are contemplating erecting sky scrapers for residences. The cost of high living does not appear to affect the millionaire class.

Oklahoma has queer politics. Al Jennings, former convict, was a candidate for Governor all by himself until another man with a record bobbed up. The latter made a lively canvass for a time, but was arrested, convicted and sent to the penitentiary for a year, and now Al once more has the field to himself.

The movement for an Oakland Pioneer Society is a good one. Such organizations are helpful, if for no other reason than that they are beneficial in preserving and compiling the history of the community.

Editor Rowell of Fresno says for several years he has traveled 25,000 miles annually through California. He must have one of those endless mileage books.

EVOLUTION.

—BY THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE CARTOONIST.

Automobile Factory for Oakland.

State papers commend Oakland for its enterprise in inducing the head of the Overland Automobile Company to investigate a site for an assembling plant here and the prospects for securing it. This is a matter for congratulation.

There ought to be more than one automobile factory in this state, a half dozen would be few enough, and when located they should be patronized. Not assembling plants merely, but manufacturing plants. For the constant drain on the finances of the commonwealth represented in the stream of gold ever and ever flowing eastward, for the purchase of machines is enormous. The motorists of California have spent millions and millions in this way, every dollar of which, with the exception of agents' commissions, has been transferred to the manufacturing states east of the Missouri river. With the exception of New York, California has more machines than any state in the Union.

These extensive purchases indicate a degree of prosperity of which Coast people may be proud and demonstrate that here are opportunities few others of the great sisterhood can boast, but how much better for all concerned would be the situation had the machines which we use and in which we take so much pride and from which we derive so much pleasure, been built here. Think of the thousands of men necessary to employ, the activity in the shops where the crude materials are fashioned, and in the factories themselves. There would have been a great surplus of capital, even had only one-half the motor cars used in California been made in California.

It is not too late to remedy the difficulty either. For the use of automobiles is becoming more and more general year by year. Old cars are side tracked and new ones purchased, because our people want the best and latest style models. They always will.

Hence if a factory or factories shall be located here it is the duty of the people of the State to buy the home product. While it is conceded there are differences in taste when purchases are made, second thought will convince one that so far as standard cars are concerned there is very little actual difference in material, power and other qualities, and these facts being carefully weighed it should be the duty of the patriotic Californian to buy at home, by so doing keep money at home, furnish employment for home labor and by conserving the capital of the State aid in its material growth.

It is hoped that the efforts to secure automobile factories for Oakland will not cease. Secure one and others will follow, because the home manufacturer will have the advantage in freight rates and in many other essentials and competitors will have to come in order to maintain their prestige.

So far as the essentials are concerned every day is May-day in Oakland.

The poet who wrote: "What is so rare as a day in June?" should have lived in Oakland a month earlier.

Boston women have appealed to President Wilson to spare the bachelors of that state in the event of war and let the women do the fighting, the idea being that the men are needed at home more than women, there being a surplus of 100,000 of the latter in the Old Bay State. Strikes us that any lot of men who are afraid to marry when there are 100,000 to pick from ought to be sent to the front and shot.

The House of Representatives proposes giving Miss Eleanor Wilson a silver tea service on the occasion of her marriage to Secretary McAdoo. If Congress does not adjourn before all of the President's daughters are married off it is feared some of them will find themselves "broke."

SWINDLERS INDEX RICH

The Wall Street man, however, has no monopoly on being a mark for the unscrupulous or the designing. His rich brother everywhere falls for the same thing and in very much the same way. He may succumb at home, but he is more likely to tumble when he makes his regular visits to New York. He seems to leave his power of discrimination and his sense of value behind.

This leads us to a favorite but little heralded game which consists of tapping the out-of-town rich when they are in the big metropolis. By some curious subterranean process of telegraphy the presence of these rich business hunters known to the horde of business and other sharpers. Before the visitor has had time to hang up his hat his telephone begins to ring, inviting him to meetings or projects to separate him from his cash.

Now the amazing thing about this performance is that many of these millionaires are known to the men who work them. They get the information by reading newspaper and magazine articles, from discharged employees and by personal investigation. Access to the rich is gained by various subterfuges. One of the quickest and easiest ways is to impersonate a newspaper man or a member of some fake committee. Once in the presence of wealth the grafter's work is over, for, as I have already intimated, the foresight of the shrewdest seems to forsake them when they get to New York. The strongest appeal is to their vanity. It pleases them to be regarded as rich or as patrons of some movement.

A group of sharpers had this game down to such a fine point that they had a card catalogue of many of the rich men who came to New York regularly. These visitors were known as "lans," and could always be counted on for some kind of tribute.

One such card was written the name, his home address, where he stayed in New York. But most diverting of all was the brief explanation of the particular weakness for which he would fall. Cards read as follows: Interested in welfare schemes. Will contribute to any kind of cause.

Prudes himself on his knowledge of art. Will buy any kind of picture if you flatter him into believing he knows all about it.

Strong on uplift. Will contribute to sociological schemes of all kinds. Immensely vain and easy to land for flattery. Likes to have histories of his family written. Easiest lead is to talk genealogy.

HOW WARMAN WON FAME

This is what first gave Cy Warman fame. He became known far and wide as the author of "Sweet Marie," and he was deluged with requests for verses, which he has no difficulty in complying with. The song became one of the most popular of its day, and Warman's receipts from it during the first year of publication were $85 for the first three months, $182 for the second three months and over $400 for the last six months. His inspiration for the song was Myrtle Marie Jones, whom he married in 1892.

SWEET MARIE.
I've a secret in my heart, sweet Marie,
A tale I would impart, love, to thee,
Every day in the dell
Knows my secret, knows it well,
And yet I dare not tell, sweet Marie.

When I hold your hand in mine, sweet Marie,
A feeling most divine comes to me;
All the world is full of spring,
Full of warblers on the wing.

COMMISSIONER HOLDS DROUGHT AND WEATHER CONDITIONS RESPONSIBLE

Commissioner Holds Drought and Weather Conditions Responsible.

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—In the report of Deputy State Horticultural Commissioner George P. Weldon on the fruits of the state of California...

The drought of last season, the very dry weather in the middle of March and the cold spell with frost which followed, it is pointed out that the drought of the two preceding years did not have a very grave effect...

Among the fruits which have suffered most heavily are prunes and in the heaviest producing section, the Santa Clara valley, the crop is lighter in proportion than in any other section. There the county horticultural commissioner places the crop at 25 per cent of normal or probably less than 60,000,000 pounds.

Almonds, growing principally in Sutter, Butte, Colusa and Yolo counties, will have a big crop where the reports ranging from 60 per cent in Butte to 100 in Colusa. As a matter of fact all fruit crops in Colusa will be large from present indications...

Apriots in most of the heavy producing sections, save only Solano and Yolo counties, show a large crop, both in the northern and southern California. Ventura reports 95 per cent, Orange 86 and Kings 110. Peaches in most sections of the San Joaquin "valley" will have large yields...

Northern California also shows up well in peaches. Pears in the valley and mountain counties show up well, but the predictions that the cherry shipments this year would fall below those of last year are borne out by the reports. Oranges have the best of prospects, the percentages in no case dropping below 75 per cent and ranging as high as 110.

RECONCILIATION PUTS END TO CASE

After Getting Divorce, Mrs. Bullock Is Reconciled to Husband.

Mrs. Charlotte Vander Nallen Kast Bullock will not have to support herself on $50 per month alimony with the privilege of riding around in her own automobile. She became reconciled to her husband, J. J. Bullock, former district attorney of Superior Judge T. N. Harris had granted her an interlocutory decree of divorce. The laying aside of their marital differences was mutual, the couple explained at their home, 1435 First avenue. Within a short time, it is said, there will be a fiat to let them on their property as the Bullocks intend to make their home in San Mateo county where the husband has opened an office for the practice of law.

A month ago Bullock sustained the loss of his left arm when a shotgun accidentally discharged, while he was hunting with former Sheriff Chapman in the hills near San Mateo. At the time there were rumors that the couple became reconciled. Both denied the stories. Mrs. Bullock continued to occupy the suit flat and when an order of the court had temporarily placed her in her possession.

CASE DISTASTEFUL

From the bench Judge Harris declared that the quarrel between the Bullocks was the most distasteful case he had had to deal with in a long time. All the trivial matters of discord between the contestants were brought out during lengthy divorce trial. Neither spoke to the other in court. The husband explained on the witness stand that he still loved his wife. For her part she declared that she would never live with him again. The decision was postponed for several weeks. Judge Harris took into consideration in granting Mrs. Bullock the decree, the sensational incident which occurred last Christmas eve regarding which the plaintiff testified that the defendant had forced her at the point of a revolver to drink a potion he told her was poison in order to get her to divorce him.

The testimony in the case went to show that Mrs. Bullock, on each time she and her husband quarreled, exacted from him titles in the shape of property or jewelry. In speaking of the reconciliation last night Bullock said that he wished to "repudiate the idea that Mrs. Bullock tried to get my property. I want it to be understood that I was at fault."

The recent proceeding were the result of a quarrel between the Bullocks and his wife's second.

WANTS TO ISSUE $30,000,000. CHICAGO, May 2.—Counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad company today filed an application with the Illinois public utility commission for the right to issue $30,000,000 of general and refunding mortgage bonds.

general election last week, has challenged Fernand D'Aillieres, the Liberal candidate against him, to fight a duel. Mr. Caillaux resigned the ministry of finance after the killing of Calmette, editor of L'Espresso, by his wife last March. The challenge was sent, it is explained here, because M. D'Aillieres insulted the members voters by posting bills saying clean elections would refuse to become "accomplices in crime."

Child's Tongue Caught in Door; May Lose Speech

BERKELEY, May 2.—Six-year-old Hilda Lakso is in danger of partially losing her speech as a result of an unusual accident at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lakso, 1729 Fifth street. The child was amusing her little brother by sticking her fingers through the crack of a door on the other side of which the infant sat. Finally she varied this by putting her tongue through. The babe suddenly pushed the door closed, catching the girl's tongue between the door and jamb and badly mangle it. The little girl received attention at the Roosevelt hospital and was later removed to her home.

WOMEN ARE ROBBED

Cash Register Looted and the Patrons of Feminine Store Owner Made Victims.

The police are today hot on the trail of three thieves who last night held up the grocery store of Mrs. A. C. Brazil, 6236 San Pablo avenue, robbing the cash register of $200 in coin, and relieving Mrs. F. C. Carus, 6248 San Pablo, and T. J. Evans, 6255 San Pablo avenue, of their valuables. The robbery was, according to the victims, committed by three men, one of whom entered the store, armed with a revolver and held up those inside, while the other two waited outside, standing guard over the place. All three men were seen leaving the store.

According to the police the robbers were probably amateurs, this being indicated by the fact that they cut the wires of the door bell, evidently believing them to be telephone connections. Several clues are believed to be in the hands of the detectives.

Mrs. Brazil, according to her story, had made a number of collections during the day, as a result having about $200 in the cash register. One bandit, she declares, followed several children, who desired to purchase candy, into the shop.

"Wait on the children first," said the man, as she turned to him. She did so, returning to look into the muzzle of a revolver. In the meantime Mrs. Carus, who saw that a robbery was coming, took two rings from her finger, and slipped them under a newspaper on the counter. The robber, however, saw the movement, and cut the rings.

HANDS WATCH BACK

Turning to Evans, he demanded his watch. "Better not take it," said Evans. "I have the number, and will have it traced through the pawnshops." The man handed it back, and backing from the store, disappeared with the pair outside. An alarm was quickly turned into the northern station, which sent men to investigate.

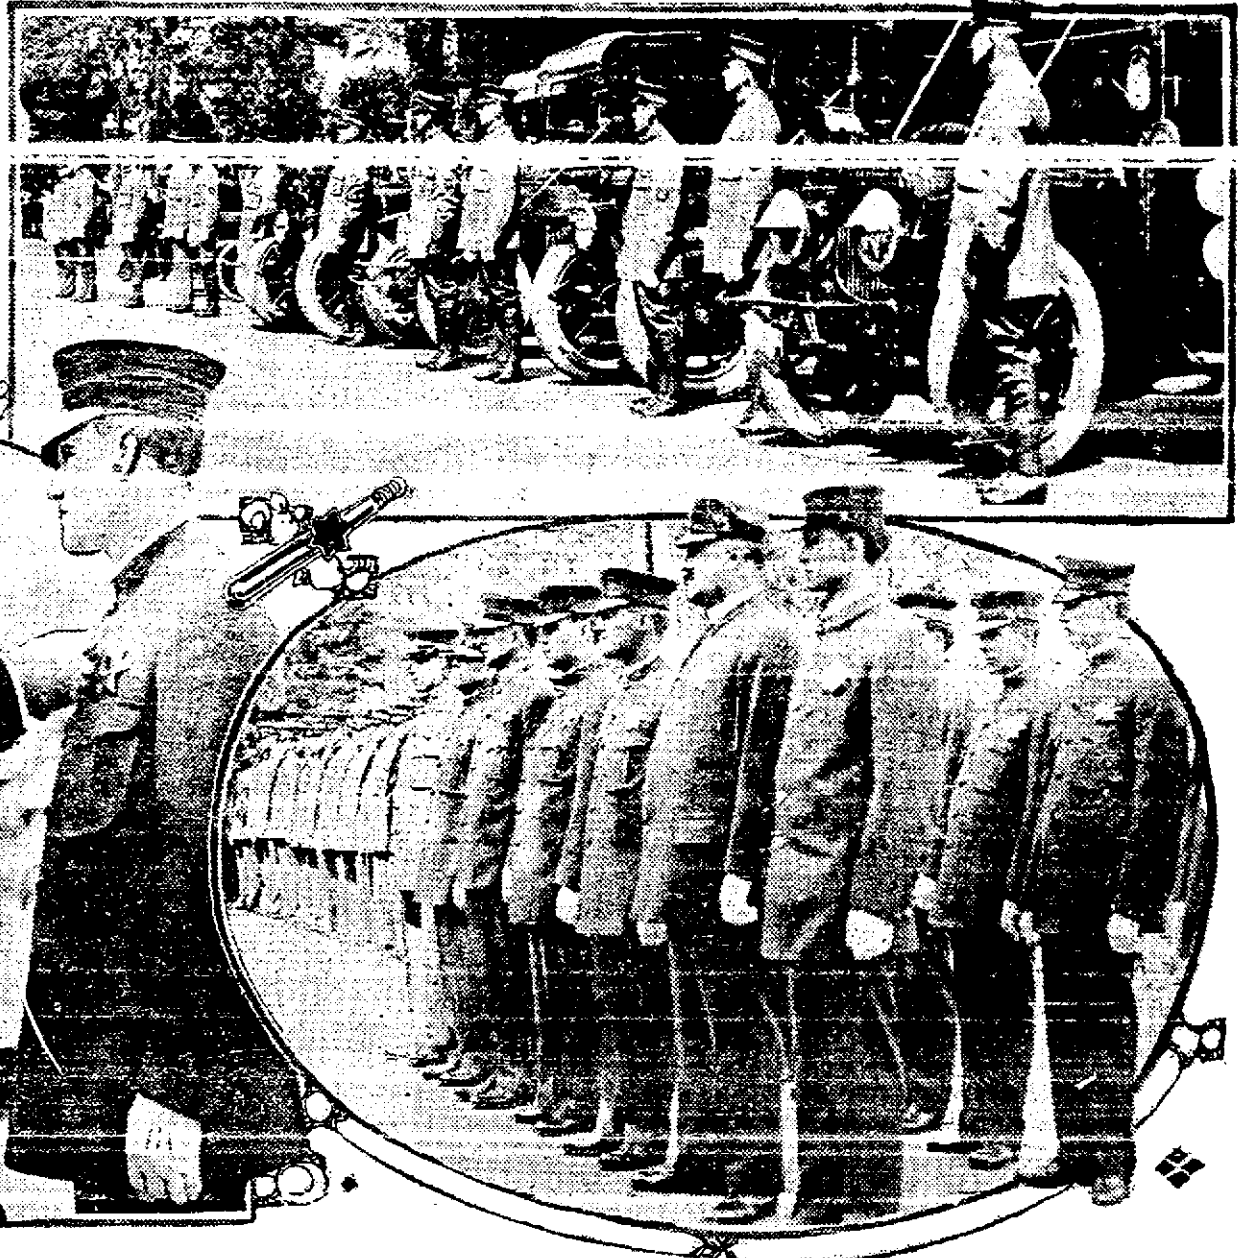

It is believed by the police that persons acquainted with the store and the time of its collections, and evidently amateurs at theft, committed the crime.

Oakland Policemen in New Uniforms Made Fine Showing

Oakland's policemen today had sore feet, due to breaking in about 200 pairs of new shoes with their new uniforms yesterday. But they're proud for all that. Yesterday was their day to shine and they did, and they were moreover complimented as the finest looking force west of the Rockies. That, hold the guardians of the peace, atones to some degree for sore feet. America atones for the rest of the suffering. In other words, it was worth it.

Oakland's policemen, attired in their new brown uniforms, made an impressive spectacle yesterday when they appeared for the annual drill and inspection of the department. Never did the men make a better appearance and never was a police drill carried out in so efficient a manner. The men formed their lines and went through their evolutions with machine-like precision. Following the inspection they gathered at the Hotel Oakland to hear addresses by Mayor Mott and the commissioners and a parade of the streets of the city ended the afternoon's festivities.

Preceded by a band and bearing Old Glory and the Oakland police colors, the men finally marched to the City Hall, forming in hollow square before the building and standing with bared heads while the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

NAMES HONORABLY MENTIONED

The big parade formed on Harrison boulevard shortly after 2 o'clock, when the men, standing in line, were inspected by Mayor Mott, Chief of Police W. J. Petersen and Captain of Police J. Frank Lynch, who acted as adjutant. The officers passed between the ranks of the men, following which were called from the ranks those names for honorable mention. These included Patrolmen Thomas O'Neil, R. G. Feeley, E. J. O'Donnell, C. D. O'Brien and Special Policemen A. Hill and C. S. King. In a few words Mayor Mott thanked the men for the acts of heroism for which they were specially commended, reviewing in each case the act of the man complimented.

The medal for conspicuous bravery was awarded to Policeman J. J. O'Connell, who saved two women from a burning home in East Oakland, risking his life in the process. "It gives me pleasure," declared Mayor Mott, "to personally thank you, Officer O'Connell, for your bravery and to present you with this token of valor. Wear it like a man. May no act of yours ever tarnish it or the record you have made in the service of your city." The medal was pinned on the policeman's coat by the executive.

OTHER CHIEFS AS GUESTS

The line then formed to the Hotel Oakland, where, in the ivory ballroom the men heard from the city officials and their chief, Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley and former police chiefs Fletcher and Wilson were present at these exercises as special guests.

"I am pleased to note the fine appearance of the force," declared the mayor, "and to see the class of men we have here. Great depends on the next year. Great crowds of people are coming—not crooks but strangers—to visit the exposition. You may not have to make more arrests, but you will have to keep order among them. Learn. Be attentive. Be prepared for this time when your services will mean so much. Your duty will be important."

"You boys will be called upon for a great work," said Commissioner Harry S. Anderson. "You have risen to great work before and can do it again. If we can help you we will, at times dangerous, but it was very successful. For forty-five days we struggled with the rapids of the river for forty-eight days we were out of sight of human habitation. We followed the course of the river for over 900 miles."

Mr. Roosevelt will go down to Para at the mouth of the Amazon on the Dunstan. At Para he will transfer to the steamer Panara for Barbados.

EXPLANATION AT TOKIO NOT SATISFYING

Wireless Message Misunderstood, Says Dispatch to San Francisco.

'Tribune' Gave News; 'Siberia Safe' Flash

THE TRIBUNE was the only newspaper circulating in Alameda county last night to give its readers news that the Siberia was safe and proceeding to Manila. The "flash" dispatch on the vessel's safety came after a day of uncertainty and at a time when this paper's big last edition was on the press.

Presses were stopped, mechanical forces assembled, and in a very few minutes the latest news was on the streets and at the doors of subscribers. The telegram printed by THE TRIBUNE telling of the Siberia's safety follows:

CORREGIDOR ISLAND, P. I.

May 2.—A message just received from the steamer Siberia by wireless telegraphy states that the vessel is in good conditions. It adds that the Siberia will arrive at Manila at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The message was relayed from the Siberia to the wireless station here by the United States cruiser Galveston.

TOKIO, May 2.—Great relief is felt here at the news from Manila that the Pacific Mail steamer Siberia, reported yesterday by wireless to have been in great peril off the coast of Formosa, is safe at Manila.

No satisfactory explanation is available in Tokio as to how the alarming reports of yesterday came to be disseminated. The Japanese authorities have decided to investigate. Japan had recalled the warships she dispatched yesterday, the aid of the liner supposed to be in distress.

WIRELESS MISUNDERSTOOD

A dispatch from Manila received last night said the Siberia steamed into the port at 11 a. m. today, after an uneventful voyage from Nagasaki, which port she left April 29. Captain Zeeder of the Siberia said he believed the reports that his vessel was in distress arose over confusion in the call letters of the steamer Persia, with which vessel he had been in communication. The call letters are "M. B. S." and they doubtless were mistaken for "S. O. S." the marine wireless appeal for aid.

The wireless operator on board the Siberia added that the atmospheric conditions had been bad, making difficult the sending of wireless messages. The first erroneous reading of the wireless calls from the Persia evidently were made at the Ozeakal wireless station in Japan. They were interpreted as saying forth that the steamer had met with an accident and was in distress. Other wireless reports were responsible for the belief that she was sinking.

On receiving the news the Japanese government dispatched cruisers and merchant ships from Formosa to where the Siberia was an accident and was in distress. Other wireless reports were responsible for the belief that she was sinking.

ALIEN REGULATIONS

Caminetti Announces Conditions Governing Foreign Participants.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Commissioner-General Caminetti of the Bureau of Immigration sent out today to all immigration officers regulations governing the admission and return of aliens participating as exhibitors at exhibitions of special interest at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco or the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego. Under the regulations each alien before being admitted into the United States shall furnish sufficient evidence, in writing, that he is an employee of an exhibitor or concessionaire; a photograph of himself in triplicate, for the purpose of identification of satisfactory bonds for $50 for his departure from the country within thirty days after termination of employment at the exposition.

In lieu of the bond the written engagement of the government of which the employee is a subject or citizen, made directly or through such government's extradition commissioners, that the undertakings mentioned in the bond will be observed, will be accepted.

While the regulations are to be strictly enforced they were prepared with a view to facilitating in every way possible the participation of those who wish to visit or participate in the exposition.

MOTORCYCLIST REPORTED KILLED, NOW RECOVERING

William A. C. Logan, motorcyclist injured in a collision with an auto driven by S. Kurthara, chauffeur for D. M. Lewis several days ago, has been removed to his home, 3005 Grove street and is now on the road to recovery, according to his physicians. At the time of the accident, in which a fractured skull, he was through a first reported death. At the Pan-Pacific Exposition, however, it was found that he had sustained a severe concussion of the brain and after considerable work the attendants brought him safely through the crisis.

The accident occurred on Piedmont avenue, when the two machines crashed together.

Mohler's Single Beats Us in the Fifteenth

Sacramento took a fifteen inning struggle from the Oaks 5-3. The game was the longest thus far of the season and gave the Wolves a mortgage on the series. Single played at the end. Geyer started for the Oaks and was with-drawn in the eighth. In the fifteenth inning the Oaks took third on Young's bouncer, but Mohler scored Tennant from second with a single to put the game in the hands of the Oaks. The Oaks had two on in the fifteenth but Heeling fanned for the out.

Seals Are Perilously Near Second Place

PORTLAND, May 2.—Roy Brashear's pinch two-bagger in the seventh inning, coupled with a wonderful backward running play by Right Fielder Speas in the eighth, with two men on and out, gave Portland a 2 to 1 victory over the Seals at the home of the latter. The Seals got ten hits off Higginbotham to ten by Portland off Leifeld, but some sparkling plays prevented the visitors getting more than the lone tally. Score: Seals 1, Portland 2.

ZEPHYRS DESTROY POLITICAL STRAWS

Indications of "How Wind Is Blowing" Found in Gossip of State.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Hon. J. J. Griffin, whose friends are ambitious to see him contest for the senatorship on the Democratic ticket, is being stirred by the political straws, and it is not improbable that he will be chosen to lead the party. He is reported to believe that he will get into office, and that when the votes are counted, will surprise the State. He is reported to be the man of the hour in the political world, having a very wide acquaintance throughout the State.

COMING REPUBLICAN RALLY.

May 3, a great Republican rally is being held at Dreamland rink. The notable feature of the occasion is that the principal speaker will be delivered by Judge Prendergast of New York. It will at once be remembered that Judge Prendergast, two years ago, was one of the leaders of the street parading Roosevelt at the exciting Chicago convention. He has never left the Republican party, as the extreme radicals of that movement did; and now he stands forth as a champion of the party.

There is nothing any nearer definite as to the Republican candidate than there was two weeks ago. The situation is considered extra favorable for the right man. ## NEEDHAM'S NAME MENTIONED.

Hon. J. C. Needham is mentioned as a candidate for Congress from the 11th district. He moved to San Diego more than a year ago and thus qualified as a resident for the district. There is little doubt that he would make a very strong run. San Diego, from its geographical position, is one of the most important of the political upshots of two years ago. A Republican congressman is to be elected.

REPUBLICAN REGISTRATION LEADS.

Registration in San Francisco shows an increasing Republican gain. Only about 20 per cent of the qualified electors have so far registered; but regular registration stations have been established, and the work is expected to proceed faster from this on. Up to this time Republican registration shows a comfortable and growing margin above the combined registrations of the Democrats and Progressives.

WEEKLY MARKET MORE OPTIMISTIC

NEW YORK, May 2.—Stock market conditions improved definitely this week. The steady decline of the previous fortnight was checked, and good progress was made on an upward swing.

The change was due primarily to the prospects for a successful solution of the Mexican problem. Acceptance of the mediation proposal by both countries altered the whole aspect of the speculative situation. Speculators who had sold heavily on the expectation of a long war found themselves in an untenable position, and much of the strength shown during the week was due to short covering.

Another element of strength was the improvement in London, based on the more hopeful view of the Easter crisis. At home, sentiment was cheered by the favorable indications for crops, the improvement in railroad earnings for March and the prospects for a speedy decision in the freight rate case.

An offsetting influence was the continued depression in business. The extent of this recession in the steel industry was measured by United States steel's quarterly report, showing a deficit of more than $8,000,000.

Foreign exchange was steady, the year's high mark, and there was talk of the chances of gold exports. Money rates were on the subsidence of alarm over the Mexican situation.

STOCK MARKET CLOSES HEAVY

NEW YORK, May 2.—The stock market closed heavy. Speculative buying was halted and prices declined slowly under the weight of the market. There was no evidence of a recovery, and the market was expected to remain heavy.

NEW YORK STOCK LIST

J. C. WILSON & CO. MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE THE STOCK AND BOND EXCHANGE SAN FRANCISCO OFFICE, Mills Bldg., and Palace Hotel San Francisco.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Housewives are rejoicing because eggs are selling at 25 cents a dozen. This is the lowest price at which eggs have sold for many months.

Search of the records, however, discloses that the finest eggs, on April 17, 1914, just twenty years ago, sold at retail for 12 cents a dozen. The rise in the cost of eggs has kept pace since that date with the increased cost of other commodities.

The record price for eggs in the last 40 years, when the finest eggs were sold at 44 cents a dozen wholesale. Upon the same day the same grade of eggs brought 45 and 46 cents in Boston, and from 30 to 35 cents a dozen in Chicago.

Wholesale prices of eggs quoted yesterday were 22 cents a dozen for "extras," 21 cents for "firsts" and 18 cents a dozen for the grade known to the trade as "current receipts."

Present egg prices are expected to hold for some time, as the demand for eggs for storage, for the rest of this month, in May and June the quality of eggs deteriorates, therefore a further drop in prices is expected in these months.

you—who are waiting—would not have this opportunity today.

Soon the few remaining lots will be gone—then you will pay new owners a big premium. Today, this private park—15 minutes out Broadway—with its wonderful marine and hill views—is $20 a front foot.

But with the prosperity of the year just starting, prices will soon be startling by comparison.

ARE OFF FOR CONVENTION
ANTICIPATE A FINE TIME*Corps Delegates and Friends Will Go to San Diego

Bay cities Relief Corps delegates of the various corps, together with the G. A. R. veterans and their friends, will leave by rail for San Diego tomorrow, to attend the department convention there. Everything is being arranged so as to make the present trip to the San Diego convention one of the most pleasurable and successful of the year.

Delegates elected by Lyon Relief Corps members to attend the thirtieth department convention of California and Nevada are: First delegate, Mrs. Belle C. Toni; second, Mrs. Carrie B. Muller; third, Mrs. Catherine Herk-shire; fourth, Mrs. Madea Ash; fifth, Mrs. Sarah Wilson, the originator of the "Living Flag," to be staged at the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, started the preparation work by calling a meeting of the directors.

The delegates from ten sister auxiliaries were present and, judging from the interest being taken in the affair, "The Living Flag," which will be composed of auxiliary members and their families, will be a grand success. The next meeting was held at the Lyon Relief Corps headquarters.

The Lyon relief committee reported splendid progress and much work is being done for needy war veterans and their dependent ones.

The memorial committee stated that Decoration day exercises will be held as usual. A special luncheon will be given to all the G. A. R. comrades. All G. A. R. veterans are cordially invited to be present at the ceremonies and to partake of the luncheon.

Honored visitors of the current session of Lyon Corps were Dr. Ardella Leighton of General George Mead Corps, San Francisco, and Mrs. Clara G. Gekler, past president of General Sedwick Corps, Orange, Mass. Speeches were made by these sister members.

The F. C. and L. Club held its regular meeting Tuesday morning, which was attended by a large membership. Many useful articles of handwork have been completed and sold, which funds will be expended for charitable purposes.

The sewing circle members look forward to very pleasant evening. The usual "mothers' luncheon" was served and enjoyed.

"CONNAUGHT MEN" TO HOLD SPORT CARNIVAL

Tomorrow the "Connaught Men" of San Francisco and the bay cities will celebrate in annual gathering with a reunion and sport carnival in Scheutzen Park at San Rafael. Delegations of Irishmen and their families from all parts of California are coming to participate in the event.

Casualty stepping contests, athletic competitions, and games for young and old, reminiscent of Connaught, are programmed to entertain the record crowd anticipated. The feature of the day will be a tug-of-war struggle between teams of brawny giants representing the four provinces of Ireland.

The Connaught Social and Benevolent Association is among the oldest and most influential organizations of Erin's sons in the west, and the fact that tomorrow's affair is to be conducted by this body assures its success.

Dancing in the pavilion will prevail until midnight.

John J. Morrison is chairman of the general committee. Other committees: James A. Flannagan, transportation; M. J. Hession, program; Thomas Doyle, printing; P. F. Hart, music; R. Houghton, finance; Thomas McDermott, floor; P. J. McNally, refreshments; P. J. Wynn, step-dancing; M. McDermott, gate; M. Gavan, games; M. Glynn, order and, and J. F. Madden, reception.

CARNEGIE HERO AWARDS MADE TO THIRTY-TWO

PITTSBURGH, May 2.—Charles W. Todd, of the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland, Ore., was among those rewarded with bronze medals for an act of heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, which held its spring meeting here yesterday.

In all thirty-two acts of heroism were recognized. In nine cases silver medals awarded and in twenty-three, bronze medals. Three of the heroes lost their lives, and to their dependents, sums totaling $2000 to be applied subject to the direction of the commission, were granted.

In addition to these money grants in eleven cases sums aggregating $21,000 were appropriated for educational purposes and in eighteen cases awards aggregating $17,000 were made to be applied toward the purchase of homes and to other worthy purposes.

Payments in these cases will not be made until the beneficiaries plans for the use of the award have been approved by the commission.

MRS. VINCENT ASTOR RENOUNCES RIGHT

NEW YORK, May 2.—It was said today that, according to the custom of the Astor family, Mrs. Vincent Astor renounced her dower rights in the vast Astor estate before her marriage on Thursday.

This has been done for generations in lieu of a settlement. The settlement is seldom generous in proportion to the vast wealth of the family.

Vincent Astor's grandmother, Mrs. William Astor, renounced her dower rights; so did Mrs. Ava Willing Astor and Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

PROF. E. J. MCCAUSLAND ACCEPTS MISSOURI CALL

SEATTLE, May 2.—Elmer J. McCausland, professor of municipal and highway engineering at the University of Washington, yesterday accepted the call of the University of Missouri to become dean of the college of engineering at the latter university.

Prior to coming here in 1903 Professor McCausland was professor of mining engineering at the University of Cornell.

He was brought to the Georgia street hospital and taken to the Vallejo General Hospital where fracture was reduced by Dr. James Brownlie.

BIG ELK DELEGATION TO ATTEND DEDICATION

Plans are being rapidly completed by the committees in charge of the big May day fete which will be given at Piedmont Park, Saturday evening, May 16, by the Ladies' Relief Society of Oakland. A statement was issued today by Miss Matilda Brown, president of the organization, calling attention to the festival for the benefit of the charity which was founded in 1871 and it is hoped that a handsome sum of money will be secured. The program at the park, which has been donated by Mrs. P. C. Havens, will be replete with interesting features for children and grownups and in addition to dancing in the pavilion, many booths are being arranged for, to be presided over by the best known society women in the east bay region.

"The society," said Miss Brown, "is maintaining a children's home, a home for aged women, and a nursery, known as the De Fremery nursery. The object of the organization is to relieve needy women and children and during more than 40 years this noble work has been carried on with the best of success."

It is a more necessary feature of the charitable work in this community than ever before. In our Home for Aged Women thirty or more inmates find comfort and relief from the stress of previous conditions while nearly 100 children are cared for in the Children's Home and Nursery.

BOARD FAILS TO LOCATE ATTORNEY

President Mellen's Counsel, an Essential Witness, Sails for Europe.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—New interest was added to the investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission into financial relations of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the Billard company by the unsuccessful efforts of the commission to summon John Hall McKay, who has been mentioned as private counsel for former President Mellen and who, in the opinion of Chief Counsel Folk, is an essential witness. It was learned by the commission that Mr. McKay was at his office in New York yesterday and that some time during the day he sailed for Europe. Mr. Folk is now trying to find out whether his departure was before or after his name was brought into the proceedings.

Samuel Hemingway, president of the Second National Bank of New Haven, one of the recalcitrant witnesses of April 10, testified at length but disclosed but little. Mr. Hemingway, who was one time treasurer of the much-discussed Billard company, said he understood the concern was a holding company, first capitalized at $50,000. Subsequently the capital was increased to $2,000,000. He said he did not know where the capital came from; that he knew nothing of the company's operations.

OFFICE SEEKERS, JUST READ THIS

Here's a Model Expense Account of One Who Lost.

BIRMINGHAM, May 2.—A unique expense account, made under the laws governing an election, was that of Judge Thomas M. Rogers, of the Interior court, who was defeated for re-election in the recent Democratic primary in this county. He does not have a "traveller's" $5.00 as a part of his campaign expenses, and could have been "snowed under" for much less than the $200 he spent in his campaign.

Judge Rogers, who was defeated for re-election in the recent Democratic primary in this county, has a unique expense account. He does not have a "traveller's" $5.00 as a part of his campaign expenses, and could have been "snowed under" for much less than the $200 he spent in his campaign.

"As I contemplate the result of this election I can easily understand the feelings of my illustrious ancestor, John Rogers, who was martyred, burned at the stake at Smithfield, England, in 1555. I am the second Rogers to be martyred because he had the courage of his convictions and refused to be recanted to his faith or traitor to the friend who appointed him, Gov. O'Neal."

His expenditures were as follows:

"Cigars, $5.00.

"Roses, not a dime—d cent.

"Traveller's, $5.00."

Then he says:

"Gifts of ten dollars each forced by me on two loyal and ardent friends who labored unceasingly and untiringly (without expectation or promise of reward) in a futile attempt to overcome and offset the better light made upon me by disgruntled and disappointed office-holders, pharisaical blots and haters of Governor O'Neal, Lincoln, Jefferson, and Benedict Arnold, Cotton Mather and Benedict Arnold, and common every day liars, especially members of the Birmingham Police Department and other city officials."

Judge Rogers has held the office for several years and made an acceptable record. He filed his entire report with his candid contents and stated that he did not object to its publication.

GETS GOLD AND FURS; TRAPPER REAPS RICHES

SPOKANE, May 2.—More than $25,000 as reward for a winter spent in hunting and prospecting is the record made by D. J. Mateovic, who came to Spokane to sell furs caught in the Clearwater district of Idaho. Mateovic went into the district last September and spent the fall in prospecting. In October he came across a portion of creek bottom which had been swept clean by a cloudburst, leaving the crickets open. After a few days he realized that he had made a big find, as every pan was showing strong color and running between 10 and 50 cents in gold.

He located his claim November 10 and prospected as much as possible before snow fell. He says his washings averaged 25 cents a pan. Mateovic has been offered $25,000 for his mining claim.

LIGHTNING HITS CHURCH; FIRE LOSS $30,000

MATSON, Wis., May 2.—The Christ Presbyterian church, a block from the capitol, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. Hunt, pastor of the church, was in the study of the building when it was struck by lightning, but escaped uninjured.

THE motor has changed the face of the world for many people, as it has also changed the manner of spending many summer vacations.

Nowadays people who go abroad never fail to plan for motor trips—some of them through England, others over the Swiss mountains, and still other travelers plan to motor through the delightful chateau country of France.

Among the tourists abroad this summer are Mr. and Mrs. William Crocker, who are making a summer motor trip through England. Mrs. Crocker, the daughter of the late John D. Rockefeller, left for the East last week, planning to join friends in New York with whom she is to cross the Atlantic. They also are planning a motor trip through England. The little English towns are all very historic, and England is a great garden in the late spring and early summer. There are wonderful hedges of hawthorne, and the little homes with their beautiful gardens are most picturesque. There are also the cathedral towns of England, the objects of many motor trips, and the great universities, and Stratford-on-Avon, to share interest with them.

Mrs. Thomas Crellin and her family enjoyed an ideal motor trip through England a few seasons ago, and among Californians now in England planning ideal tourist trips are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Heron and Mr. and Mrs. Willis F. Kelly of Piedmont.

The Greenwoods are in England, and they will be joined there in the near future by Captain and Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall and Miss Helen Goodall. The De Sablas have rented their place, El Cerrito, at Burlingame, to Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr., and they will spend the season in England. In this historic country, also, are the Rickards and Mrs. John McNear, all of whom are arranging motor trips of interest this coming summer.

After one has motored through England there is still time to go to Europe, where life has much to offer in a colorful way. The Crockers will go to Cannes, where Mrs. Crocker's sister, the Princess Poniatowski, has a lovely villa, and here at Cannes one sees the best tennis playing in the world, bringing out a fine assemblage of very fashionable people, and one is in the heart of a brilliant social life.

One motors on the Riviera, which is truly an enchanted land. And, of course, one stops at Monte Carlo, and of the women seen there one reads:

"Here are jewels worthy of the Arabian Nights dream. Pearls like pigeon eggs, tiaras of emeralds and diamonds wondrously set in platinum, ropes of pearls that were slung round the neck several times, sleeves half held up the arm by bracelets of gems, black and pink pearls that covered the fingers—such were the jewels that these women wore."

All the women are wearing black clothes on the Riviera. "Purple mountains, azure seas, scarlet flowers, green foliage, and black-robed women."

There is a remarkable paragraph concerning the Riviera, written by recent motorists:

"Compared with any American playground, the facts of non-drinking are astonishing. Even the men and women who are supposed to lead the gayest lives content themselves with a non-alcoholic operativ and possibly a glass of wine at dinner. The constant procession of highballs and cocktails which goes on at American resorts is unknown."

In California one motors to Coronado and perhaps over the border to Tia Juana for a glimpse of old Mexico. Many people motor to Tahoe just as soon as the roads are open and the snow has disappeared from the high Sierras. One may motor to Shasta and then take that magnificent road, through great forests, over to the McCloud river, to the Hearst, Wheeler and Williams country homes. And very venturesome motorists drive all the way to Oregon, to the great Crater lake district. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Risdon Mead of Byron Springs made the trip a few seasons ago.

Among those who take vacation trips each year by way of their motor are Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Titus, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mr. and Mrs.

Wigginton Creed, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McDuffie, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Mrs. Charles H. King, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schilling, Dr. W. S. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa, Dr. and Mrs. Murry Johnson, Mrs. P. A. Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson Cushing.

SEASIDE BEHAVIOR COMES IN FOR CRITICISM.

If one is going abroad this summer it behooves one to beware of the seaside resorts all over the European coasts who were criticised for their lack of good manners, but now that the American has come into his own in the matter of good breeding, critics must forsooth look at home. It is a well-known London clubman chairs in the drawing-room for a post-prandial snooze.

"In short, your modern seaside visitors have a genius for giving offense in every quarter. They think that holiday spirits are bound to be amusing to the observer; they imagine that rudeness is synonymous with wit; aggressive hilarity with enjoyment. They think that the holiday spirit is best interpreted by the abandoning of good manners, as though civil behavior were a responsibility which retarded their freedom."

This is a well-drawn picture from a notable clubman in London. One wonders how much of it is today applicable to the members of the American summer resorts.

NOW IT'S THE SUPER-TANGO TEA.

They are having in London "super-tango teas," which are the latest cry.

who gives this picture of his countrymen:

"Modern seaside behavior is deplorable. It is as though people make holiday so thoroughly nowadays that they soon give their good manners a complete rest. What passes for normal behavior in our health resorts today is exactly the same kind of thing that was mightily sneered at as 'trippish' a few years ago. The holiday mood of young people seems to be largely made up of the spirit of 'kitchen lancers,' with a froth of rowdiness and a sediment of downright ill-breeding. The older people seize on carping and criticism and opportunities to be offensive as though they were precious privileges of the vacation; and 'loud,' I fear, is the apt word for the majority of young women today when they get within sound of the sea. They are loud in voice, in dress, in behavior. They have a knack of describing themselves as 'unconventional,' a word which may explain, but cannot possibly justify, their attitude toward One may describe it as hoydenish behavior and fall short of the mark. "In the hotels the same lack of manners persists. A meal is a sequence of petty advantages. And after the meal there are inevitable scramblings for best places on the veranda, for the most comfortable waits was in keeping with the hoop skirt and the ante-bellum costume. "The new dances are typical of today, because they are so emphatically of the spirit and expression of the time. The tango, hesitation and the one-step have come to stay, at least through our generation. They are not transient

The smart sets abroad do not dance the tango when the floor is at the disposal of the professionals.

BELIEVES NEW DANCES ARE HERE TO STAY.

To those who are not yet decided as to whether they will learn the new dances or not comes a word of admonition from Flora Voorhies, the well-known New York authority on dancing:

"The new dances, the tango and the turkey trot, from which have been evolved the one-step and the hesitation waltz, are probably here to remain. The minuet was in harmony with the stately manner of colonial fads but an expression of our life.

"We rush in business; we ride in the subway and in taxicabs, and we telegraph and we telephone. It is an age of frenzy, but reduced to a formula. The new dances are in harmony with all we do. They are quick steps in regular time, executed with studied abandon, but they must be standardized before they become the expression of the age."

And that ought to decide all of those who linger, who have not yet learned "to tread a measure," to the merry music of the tango.

FIRST DANCES OF CLUB WERE GIVEN IN HOMES.

The Saturday Night Club gave its last dance recently at the Oakland, closing a series of dances that has lasted for many seasons. The club began its dances in a small way, in the drawing-rooms of private homes. Then it adjourned to the Home Club, where the dances have been given for several winters. But the demand has taken away the need for these there is no longer any special need for the dances of other days.

The last Saturday Night dance was well attended and the club may be said to have completely fulfilled the expectations of the men and women who started it so many years ago.

Among those who have always taken a great deal of interest in the club are Dr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Boyes, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Boyes, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rowe and Dr. and Mrs. Dukes.

CHARLES WHEELERS TO GIVE LARGE RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wheeler and the Misses Lillias and Olive Wheeler have sent out cards for a large reception which they are to give on Saturday, May 9. The Wheelers formerly lived over here, and many prominent people of Berkeley and Oakland are always included in their guest lists.

Mr. Wheeler is a member of the Board of Regents and the latter are always present at the Wheeler entertainments.

The Wheeler girls have been beautifully educated in Eastern colleges and in Europe, and they have many charming Eastern friends. Miss Wheeler is to be home in time for the reception. She has been visiting in Kentucky and she is bringing home with her a very delightful young Southern matron, who will be her guest all summer. The hours of the reception are from 5 to 7, and the Wheelers will entertain in their home on Washington street.

They are going later in the summer to "The Bend," their lovely country home on the McCloud river. Life is lived out in charming fashion there, for Mrs. Wheeler has hard and fast rules which the guests are expected to obey. For instance, there is very little "dressing" there is early breakfast in one's own room if one wishes it that way, and there is a general informality that is delightful.

"Hunting and fishing" are the amusements of the men, and the home is full of guests all the season. Among those who spend restful vacation days at "The Bend" each season are President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

"CHILDREN'S PARTY" SOCIAL INNOVATION.

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight, Make me a child again, just for a night!"

That is the refrain being sung in many smart set circles in these closing days of the season. There is a craze on for something new, for something original, so "children's parties" have been evolved, "grown-ups" going to parties and dancing the new dances dressed as children. At a recent party the guests all came in wonderful children's costumes and they were dressed "from babies to ten-year-olds." In the early evening they all played "Going to Jerusalem" and "Copenhagen" and other children's games. Then they danced the tango till supper was served. The first course looked like bowls of bread and milk, but proved to be bouillion, with whipped cream floating on top; for a beverage dozens of milk bottles were brought in and their contents poured into tumblers, which the guests on sipping, found was not milk, that is, not straight milk but a delicious eggnogg. The cakes and ices were cut to represent animals and the whole affair was most amusing. It does the tired business man a great deal of good to play once in a while—especially if he can be "a child again."

LOUIS TITUS HOME

One hears that Mr. and Mrs. Louis Titus have sold their home, "Greenacres," at Piedmont, and that they are to subdivide some of the land originally intended for a fine park. The home was most artistic and it is said that some of the furniture and objects of art were sold with the house. Piedmont people are very glad to hear, however, that Mr. and Mrs. Titus intend to make their home in Piedmont. They will build another residence in a different part of the attractive grounds in the foothills.

OAKLANDERS AT "EIGHT-YEARS-ATER" BALL.

Among those who went over last evening from this side of the bay to the big ball in San Francisco were Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johnson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Burrell, Miss Edith Beck, Mr. and Mrs. George McNear, Miss Ernestine McNear, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith, Mr.

William Pierce Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Henshaw, Miss Henshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering.

WOMEN SHOW PROWESS AT POLO PLAYING.

In the East at Tuxedo and some of the other leading summer resorts, women are learning to play polo with much skill, and they practice preparatory to the coming tournament next year. Down at Burlingame one hears that prominent women there are playing an exceedingly good game of polo and that they will make a very good showing next year against all eastern competitors. Very little is said on this coast in regard to the big polo tournaments of the exposition year, but in the East there is a great deal of excitement in regard to them.

John B. Miller of Pasadena is the commissioner who is East to secure the attendance of Eastern and foreign players at the exposition games in 1915. He is trying to get the star players of the world together and he writes:

"We are sending to South America, to Europe, to India, to Manila, to Hawaii, and we will go to the very ends of the earth if necessary to get the best there is among polo players and ponies to take part in the world-wide tournament we hope to make the greatest ever known in the annals of the game. We will have six polo playing fields and facilities for stabling and caring for a thousand ponies when the time for the games come. We will have the star players of the world in California."

Among our best polo players are the Carolans, the Tobins and the Thomas Driscolls, and there are many good players in Southern California.

MRS. HEARST REVIVES U. C. CLASS RECEPTION.

One of the interesting dates of coming commencement days will be the reception planned for the state university graduating class by Mrs. P. A. Hearst, who has asked the members of the class for the day to the Hacienda. This is a revival of a custom of the early days of Mrs. Hearst's regency. It was discontinued during Mrs. Hearst's long stay abroad, but in the fall of the young people this year cards arrived from Mrs. Hearst requesting "the pleasure of their company" at the Hacienda. A special train over the Western Pacific will take the young people to the Hacienda, where an al fresco entertainment will be given them. The Hacienda grounds are very beautiful, especially at this time of the year, and an al fresco luncheon is most enjoyable in such a delightful environment. There is much also to see in this most wonderful of homes and the day will make a most charming date in this important period of the young people's lives.

EARLY SUMMER FLITINGS INTEREST.

It is interesting to note the movements of well-known people in these early summer days.

The Charles Crockers are in London and they are being entertained by the Hon. and Mrs. John Ward. All the members of the Crocker family are very popular in the London smart set and are often to be seen in the drawing-rooms of the exclusive aristocracy.

Charles Frohman is also in London and a good story is going the rounds of the English smart set. Mr. Frohman was asked for a comparison between life in London and New York and this was his answer:

"In New York everybody wants to know whom you are doing; in London nobody cares what you are doing." All her friends are sorry that Mrs. Prentiss Selby is not planning to return, as usual, to spend the summer in Oakland. Arthur Selby, her son, is a student in Princeton and he will accompany his mother on an extended trip abroad.

Professor and Mrs. Preston (Mrs. Grover Cleveland) sailed last week in the Amerika for Europe, and they will spend all the summer on the continent. Miss Esther Cleveland, who is a charming girl, was one of the successful debutantes of last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Alexander (Hattie Crocker), after several weeks spent in Rome, have gone on to the Riviera and are now at Monte Carlo.

The Winston Churchills, who were recently extensively entertained in Paris, are planning an interesting tour

KATE: When the hair starts to turn gray it is best to let Nature take her course. Don't use a dye on your hair. It is hard to keep the hair one shade, for it will always turn its natural color at the roots and the gray hairs will be lighter. The constant use of a dye will make the hair dry and brittle and will cause it to break. I think it is much better to have gray hair than hair that is bleached with a dye.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

Is Religion Losing Hold on Masses

Is religion losing its hold on the masses, and if so, why? The authorities who have tackled these grave questions are mostly agreed that formal religion has in large degree lost its grip. Indeed, a learned author has recently compiled and published a book on this subject from which we learn that all but one of the 105 eminent theologians, teachers, preachers and men of science and letters represented in this unusual volume seek to answer three questions, thus fairly formulated:

Should church membership be conditioned by creeds, which may become controversial?

What should be the basis and direction of a fundamental theology for the church?

There are agreed upon a single fact—

They do not agree as to how this indifference can be overcome. They do not all admit that it is growing or that creeds are the cause of it.

The radical defect of all such debates, discussions and disquisitions on religious matters is that they are exclusively devoted to the opinions of theologians, clergies and divines who are in fact the very last people who should be consulted.

The theologian, by virtue of his office or calling, no matter what denominational allegiance he may acknowledge, is necessarily pledged to foregone conclusions on religious matters. Once in a while you get a hint of the truth from them, as for instance when the Reverend Dr. Aked complained that he could not compete with the movies. His drawing power was inferior to the secular attractions of a great city. This admission appears to me to touch the root of the matter. The high and dry religion of the organized churches does not successfully compete with the movies or the ball game. Understand me, I am not urging ministers of the Gospel to engage in this headlong competition. I see that Dr. Aked is doing his best, with perhaps indifferent success, and his efforts in this field show that he knows what is the matter. Nobody who has attended the big revival services held by Evangelist Gurnea in Berkeley now, and Dr. Stockton recently, would admit that religion is losing its hold on the masses.

MUST LEARN OF THE MOVIES

A preacher, in fact, if he wants to draw a crowd, must learn his lesson from the newspapers and from the movies. If his sermon is not timely, he is sure to be neglected. I offer an illustration: San Jose has for some time past been throwing out its moral temperature of the town has been very high. So I find the Reverend O. P. Bell of that city announcing as the title of his sermon, "San Jose Stung on the Vice Crusade." That reads like a sort of electrical sign such as you may see, any evening, on Market street proclaiming the attractions of some highly moral circus exposing the wickedness of the white slavers. Dr. Bell proceeded to deliver his eloquent discourse into chapters, of which the first was entitled "A Stacked Deck." So may the language of the sporting race and hostile asylum in the pulpit.

Dr. Bell then proceeded to launch his holy diatribe:

"The whole city burned with the fury of the disprave. No crime had been perpetrated against some great personage in the city. No treasury of high finance that involved the best people of the community had been ennobled. But only young girls, in their inexperience and foolishness, had been deceived and disgraced. The erstwhile sleeping manhood of men lured itself to its manhood's responsibility, and the agency of mother hearts took flame in its sympathy for other mother hearts that in these crimes had been broken. It is impossible to describe the events of the next few days. Never before was the whole community so roused. Little meetings were held here and there. Two thoughts held all minds. First the question was asked: 'What can we do?' Second, the assertion was made, 'We must do something.' Day after day the papers added to the flame. Soon it became apparent that a very demon had set himself on the boys and girls of the city. On Sunday, the churches were filled with anxious congregations. Most of the preachers admonished their congregations to participation in concerted action, demanding the slaying of the monster. During that day the morning papers got into touch with several members of the City Council. Councilman Robinson pledged himself to action. Councilman Mansfield did the same. On Monday the air was surcharged with that burning fury that in the sunny South heretofore battered down jail doors and dragged forth shrieking, cowering black men and burned them alive, that in our old home States in the East and Middle West has been the cause of the bodies of men being found hanging from the banisters of some country bridge on the following morning. It was that same fury that oft-times driven to extremities by a weak, insipid, cringing inefficiency in public officials, takes matters into its own hands and satisfies itself."—News Letter.

Rolph to Retire? Is It Rumored

I am told that Mayor Rolph has expressed the intention of retiring from politics at the end of his present term. Word comes to me that he has unobtrusively himself to a friend quite recently, telling him that one term was enough and that he would be glad to go back to private life. Whether this announcement was born of temporary disgust or represented a settled determination I am, of course, unable to say, as I do not possess the confidence of the mayor. But such statements are rather interesting than important. The bacillus of politics has never been isolated, so it is a hard bacillus to deal with. Some thing that is can never be expelled once it gains lodgment in the human frame. The mayor may be able to get rid of it. Time alone will tell whether Mayor Rolph will eliminate himself from politics, be eliminated by defeat or persist in a political career by means of new combinations. Certainly he cannot count, as he formerly could, on the support of his old friends. The rapid growth of "The Millionaires," an organization frankly anti-Rolph, shows that he has lost heavily in popularity.—Town Talk.

The Missing Bierce; He's Disappeared

According to press reports, Ambrose Bierce, the Dean of American letters, has disappeared. He went to Mexico some months ago, so the story goes, to join Villa's army in the hope that he might be killed on the field of battle, preferring a tragic end to dissolution from old age. The story has something of the Bierce flavor, suggestive as it is of grim irony, of the probability that in Villa's army a man might die a natural death while waiting to be shot with a bullet of the kind made in the United States for the use of Mexican soldiers. Though Bierce is now in the early disolution when last heard from. Less than a year ago he was in San Francisco, and he was then in fine fettle. Several months ago he wrote to Town explaining that he did so because he was going where it would be impossible for the paper to reach him. A little later I learned that he had gone to South America to wander across the Andes, and that before he went he told a friend that he was disgusted with a country that had been corrupted by prohibitionists and other reformers. Mr. Bierce is that our greatest literary genius is very

There is an interesting allusion to Bierce in T. P.'s London Weekly of April 24. Herman Schaffner writes of his early literary efforts in San Francisco has this to say: "In those days Ambrose Bierce was the 'Literary Alibi' of the West, a fierce brilliant spirit that corrupted in the Sunday Examiner. Pretentious poets and corrupt politicians were his favorite prey. His columns were a veritable mine of gold and glory. I ventured to send this once a satire upon himself. In his 'Answers to Correspondents' the following Sunday I read: 'Though I cannot commend your choice of theme, your not altogether unchoiceless choice much please. Send me your address.' From my first visit to the spirit, I began to feel that the most ardent of men, began my devotion to the—a devotion heavily handicapped by eight years of thraldom to the pen of the architect. For when it came to choosing a profession, that of poet was singularly absent from the parental list. I chose the sister art of architecture and transformed some of my dreams and anger into brick and stone."

Not long ago Schaffner wrote a play called "The New Spivack." It has been translated into German and produced in Germany.—Town Talk.

Standardized Society Stuff

Newspaper people would rather do anything in the world than handle the stuff which is the accepted slang of the trade way call "society stuff." They will welcome, therefore, an innovation introduced by the Los Angeles hostess of a recent wedding, who furnished all the newspapers with type-written copy setting forth some brief personal history for every one of the 1000 invited guests. Here is a sample:

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett, Phoenix, Ariz., president Valley Bank, largest financial institution in the State of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cole, Duluth, Minn., president of Cole-Ryan Copper Syndicate, representing an invested capital of several hundred million dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grant, Fairhault, Minn., largest railway contractor in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gannon, New Orleans, leading banker of New Orleans, president and chairman of the boards of corporations, with aggregate capitalization of over $100,000,000.

Mr. W. M. Ladd, Portland, Ore., president Ladd and Tilton Bank; wealthiest man in Oregon.

Miss Maud Luck, Tucson, cousin of Mrs. Hulet C. Merritt, and declared by Emperor of Germany to be the greatest little pianist and composer who ever visited Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Milbank, Los Angeles, ex-president of the $20,000,000 Borden Condensed Milk Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, New York, multi-millionaire; the largest authority on real estate values in New York City.

Baron William Vincent Shotton, Yale-Kiosque, Esplanade Point Terminus, Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey; railway magnate of Turkey.

This might be a combination of Bradstreet's ratings and "Who's Who," with a slight flavor of Debrett's Peerage or the Almanach de Gotha. It is social publicity standardized.—News Letter.

Commander in Mexico Made the "Colonel"

Major-General Leonard Wood, who has been designated commander of the troops in Mexico in the event of war, is the man who made a soldier out of Theodore Roosevelt. He was an army doctor at the time of the call to arms for the Spanish war, and he was also Roosevelt's intimate friend. Roosevelt depended on him to organize and drill the Rough Riders. When Roosevelt became President he rewarded his friend by promoting him over the heads of a score of officers, and as a result Wood became the best hated man in the army, but by intelligent devotion to duty he has lived down the envy and distrust which his rapid promotion excited. At the time he was selected to command in Mexico he was the only major-general in the country who was a sportsman, who had been an athlete, a hunter, a fisherman, a mounted scout, a staff officer, an artillery officer, in command of the Western Department, with headquarters in San Francisco. Just when Major-General Wood prepared plans for a campaign in Mexico, and as he was more familiar with present army organization than any other officer, Mr. Wilson's choice logically fell upon him. All the division commanders who distinguished themselves in the Spanish war are dead or have retired from the service, and General Wood's war record compares favorably with that of other officers of his grade. General Barry has the Philippine and China campaigns to his credit. General Bell was MacArthur's indefatigable chief of scouts in the Philippine campaign and won the medal of honor for personal gallantry. General Murray also served in the Philippine campaign; neither General Wetherston nor General Carter had an opportunity to distinguish himself in the field during the Spanish war period.—Town Talk.

Lemon and Sugar in Society Colony

The "lemon and sugar, please" flavor in the colony which has been spilled over the week is the announcement that Mrs. Flora Dean Magee is now Mrs. Walter Hobart. The slightly adulterated effect of the sugar coated comment is not amazing under the circumstances. This marriage is the culmination of an interest that began eight or nine years ago. The Walter Magee had just been divorced, to the great sorrow of everyone who had known that this marriage was the consummation of a boy and girl friendship which dated back to their pinafore days. When Flora Dean decided to be a "high brow" and go to college, Walter Magee saw her off to Vassar, and welcomed her on her return every vacation. The family did not have a chance to display the college diploma as interest

A marriage certificate showed it out of first place. The young couple went to the Orient for their honeymoon, and the statisticians, who can make the most deflected figures stand bolt upright and then turn handspins, regarded this as such a simple case in the arithmetic of happiness that they never thought of auditing the accounts of this young couple.

But there came a day when rumors of their unhappiness took the language form that even the optimists could not look there for a permanent note of the white dove of peace, and after a very few years of married life they settled their difficulties in the divorce courts, and the young mother, with her little boy, and other members of her family, went to Santa Barbara, and for a season or two San Francisco society saw nothing of her.

Then she came to Burlingame, and almost immediately Walter Hobart manifested a great interest in her. At that time there were rumors that the Hobarts were not adding anything to the history of happy domestic relations, but it was hoped that divorce would not be the outcome. Mrs. Magee accepted Hobart's attentions in the cynical manner which experience has grafted on the frank, breezy, fashion of her girlhood, and always maintained that she would never marry again. But when Mrs. Hobart applied for a divorce last year, the gossips who kept their ears closest to the ground maintained that they could hear the faint, not so far off tinkle of wedding bells, and to Mrs. Magee's protestations the most astute answered, "I think the lady had better not say much."

All three of the principals in this very modern affair have an enviable place in the regard of their friends. Mrs. Hannah Nell Hobart has perhaps a smaller circle of friends, but that is because she has not chosen to admit many into the boundaries of intimacy and affection. With her very close friend, Miss Mary Byrne, she has spent much time abroad. She is now traveling Europe with Miss Sara Coffin. Her marriage to young Hobart was a romantic affair. He was then considered the best catch in these parts, and angling mothers, with practiced hands, were making an intensive study of the best way to land him, when he upset all calculations by falling in love with Miss Nell at first sight. At that time she was living very quietly in San Rafael with her mother, who was an invalid, and Hobart met her at a ball over there and proceeded at once on a courtship, which is still the de luxe record in that sort of thing. He compared her to an American Beauty rose and literally strewed her path with the perfume of beauties. At a dance given in her honor as she made her way down the ballroom, American Beauty roses, which were concealed in the greenery above by some apparently magic touch fell at her feet and marked her pathway down the stairs.

Courtship brought some fascinating surprises that a fairy prince with a magic wand might have produced. When she opened her eyes upon a room blooming with pink roses with birds singing in tiny gilt cages, and thought his transformation might be worked out by the bribed hands of some clever maid, there was all the poetry of the lover's thought behind it. Hobart has always been popular with his set, and when he went a-wooing in this way all the world that loves a lover applauded. Their marriage was solemnized with all the glamour of a sunshine, blossomed day down the peninsula, and no one went around looking for thorns. But the thorns began to prick eventually, and the wounds would not heal.

There is no doubt that Hobart and his bride will be given a cordial reception by the Blingumites in spite of the loyalty and affection for Mrs. Hannah Nell Hobart. But it is one of those affairs where no one blames any one in the case particularly, and so no one is working up any muscle for the unproductive pastime of throwing stones. The Hobarts are now in the East, and think of returning over to Europe before returning to the coast. Mrs. Hobart has a ranch in Nevada, where they will spend some time each year, as she is devoted to the life on a cattle ranch, and takes great interest in her horses and dogs. She is an all-around sportswoman and considered one of the handsomest young women in the smart set.—News Letter.

Here's Yarn Apropos of Sportswomen

Apropos of sportswomen, here is a story which is going the rounds of the places where fashionables frolic together. At a smart bridge party the other day a woman, so the story goes, accepted a prize which the tellers gave her, although she knew at the time that a mistake had been made, and that the prize should have gone to some one else. After the party had broken up, however, in collecting the cards, observed a mistake had been made at one of the tables, and she rang up the woman who should have received the prize at that table, and apologized for the mistake, and told her that she was sending her a duplicate, but asking her to say nothing about it to the woman who had the prize by mistake, as it would embarrass her. "Not think that anything could embarrass her, for she knew all along that it belonged to me, but she was really very kind, and if she could walk off as coolly as that with a prize which she knew did not belong to her, I don't think that anything could embarrass her." In spite of the quiet, it has developed into a breezy young near-scandal, for, of course, the two women who did the counting heard of it, and in spite of the fact that no one, not even the woman who lost the prize through their misadventure, believed that they made the mistake, deliberately, they insisted on "putting themselves right," and now conversation on the affair makes a noise more like controversy than polite small talk. The lady who received the prize by mistake indignantly denies that she had any inkling of the misadventure, and her friends are championing her. The distracted hostess begs every one to take the vow of silence on the thing, and out of it all has grown much bitterness, cynical amusement, and this particular hostess could not be induced to give a bridge party until the effect of this aftermath is wiped off her memory.—News Letter.

Dumping Insane Patients on California

There is not much doubt that some of the eastern states, and private individuals of ultra-montane residence, seeking to rid themselves of personal obligations, are shipping their insane patients to California. A Sacramento despatch tells us that Secretary Birdsell of the State Lunacy Commission has filed a report on the sending of a carload of patients from Kings Park Hospital and Mattawan Hospital, New York, to California, and says: "My views are that there may be some collusion or effort being made in some of the eastern institutions to get rid of the undesirable or non-pay patients by shipping them to California." Dr. F. W. Hatch, superintendent of California hospitals, is going to press inquiry further, and if it develops that New York is dumping its insane upon California, steps will be taken to prevent such an imposition. Were California to rid its insane asylums of those not natives of the state, he says, several thousand would be shipped back to Europe and to other states in the Union, as only a small percentage of those in California asylums are native born.

From Los Angeles it is learned that Judge Jackson, of the County Lunacy Commission, has begun steps to return non-resident insane persons to the institutions in other states from which they were sent, if circumstances have been dumping insane persons loose on Los Angeles county. Mrs. J. Woodard, of Little Rock, Ark., told the commission that her two sons placed her on a train with a basket of food and a ticket to Los Angeles, but no berth for a sleeper. She will be sent back to Little Rock. Several other cases of like character are reported from Los Angeles, and there is no doubt of the widespread use of these methods to get rid of expensive responsibilities at the cost of California, which suffers by reason of its reputation for humane treatment of the insane, and its good climate, which helps the cure of these unfortunate.—News Letter.

Miss Barron and a Bouquet

At last the question is answered. And answered satisfactorily, too. The question was: Whom will Gayle Anderson marry? It is surprising how many people were asking this question. Among the number were not a few belles who, it may be guessed, asked the question with certain flutterings of the heart. For Gayle has always been very popular. His personality makes him interesting to romantic belles. Gayle flits from party to party for part of the season, and then flies to the mountains, where he does some of his best work.

Something of the sort. Girls like that sort of thing. The drone doesn't please them, except for a few moments when they make themselves agreeable at a party. And now Gayle is going to marry one of the Barron girls. It is regarded as a fine match. People thought something was coming when Margaret Barron "caught" the bride's bouquet the day Margaret Reid married Chapin Tubbs. Not that people are superstitious. You see, the bride hardly ever throws the bouquet. She hands it to the girl she has settled on in advance. And when she knows a girl is about to announce her engagement, she hands it to that girl. It is "caught" in no haphazard way, but by prearrangement. Knowing this, people draw their own conclusions. They don't have to be superstitious to believe in this particular sign. So when Margaret "caught" Merritt's bouquet, people smiled, shook their heads wisely and said to themselves: "So, Margaret is engaged. I wonder if it's Gayle." As it turns out, it is Gayle.—Town Talk.

Prize of Bachelor Girlhood Is Won

Not in many years has there been an engagement announcement which has been received with such interest and joy as that of Miss Cora Smedberg and Charles Felton. Miss Smedberg was a prize example of the bachelor girl in the smart set, for she not only qualified as a bachelor girl, but as a wage-earning one as well, having taken over the affairs of her father's office after his death. There is no doubt that the bachelor girl and the wage-earning girl has a comfortable place in the regard of the world, but there is also no doubt that the world is still old-fashioned enough to specially rejoice when one of this kind comes into the commonplace fold of matrimony.

A dozen years ago Miss Smedberg made pleasure the sole business of life along with her special group of friends. George Newhall; Miss Edith McKean, now Mrs. Henry Kierstead; Miss Therese Morgan, now Mrs. Norris Davis, and a number of others who have maintained a close friendship through all the changes and chances since their debutante days. Mr. Felton, Miss Smedberg's fiance, is an uncle of Felton Elkins, and equally well known in the set in which Miss Smedberg moves, so that their married life will not mean the breaking of old ties and the forming of new ones.

Woman wears her nose proudly as an ornament, like a feather in her cap. Beauty, we know, is only skin deep, and Miss Gardiner appears to have peeled off $25.00 worth of it on the cruel stones of the public printing house. Still, that extra nickel confuses the equation. How shall we measure five cents worth of beauty—News Letter.

Here's Bit About Brady and Joe Grismer

I got a couple of good stories about William A. Brady, the theatrical manager, who was here a short time ago with Robert Mantell and other attractions. Brady, although a native of Ireland, may be called a California product. Some 25 years ago or thereabouts he was Bill Brady, with a bright red poll, a fine crop of large freckles, a strong West-of-Ireland brogue, and a truly racy Celtic sense of humor. He was a busy deckhand on a steamer plying between San Francisco and Petaluma. One day Joseph Grismer and Phoebe Davies were going up the country bar-storming. Joe was not yet a celebrity, and Brady was altogether to fame unknown. Bill's manner of telling stories attracted the attention of the Thespian, and the result was an engagement which transferred Bill Brady from the "fo'c's'le" of the Big changed his name to Mr. W. A. Brady on the handlebars. A picturesque figure he was in the guise of an Irish peasant (it was no disguise), and his brogue was as fascinating as his freckles. It was in Los Angeles that Mr. Brady made his first hit with the public, and a theatrical critic who recognized the boys and girls and prophesied a future for him in a local paper, got a good "roasting" from the theatrical Grismer because as Joe said, "that write-up means a demand for a higher salary before rehearsal begins this afternoon."

Some very exciting episodes of early days in California were intimately connected with Brady's family history. Concerning some of these stirring affairs, Brady writes in the course of an autobiographical sketch that he is publishing in a Southern newspaper, in which he tells us that his father was the founder of the San Francisco Monitor, in which he passionately advocated secession. "During the Civil War," writes Brady, "my father constantly used both tongue and pen to promote the cause of the Confederacy. At that time mobs of lawless partisans infested San Francisco, and riots were constantly breaking out in all parts of the city. And my father was one of the principal instigators of them. Every issue of his paper bore flaming articles in support of the South, and to most of the people these articles were like red flags to a bull. That's the way my father got the name of Fighting Brady. On the night of the assassination of Lincoln my father committed an act of supreme fanaticism. He got up on a stand on Montgomery street and made a speech, in which he called Lincoln a traitor, because he had gone to the theatre on Good Friday night, and so on doing had insulted at least one-third of the population of the United States."

"The time for such a speech was, to say the least, not quite propitious. A mob sprang at my father, dragged him down from the stand, and would have hanged him, but he was rescued by General McDowell, who was in command of the Federal troops in San Francisco, and who chanced to be coming down the street at the time. Falling to hang my father, the mob proceeded down Clay street, broke into the offices of the Monitor, wrecked the plant, tried to fire the building, but was prevented. Then it rushed on to the offices of the Alta California, another pro-Southern paper, and demolished the building. My father was made a prisoner and sent to Alcatraz, an island in San Francisco bay, where he was kept six months until the thing had quieted down. On being freed from prison he started a suit against the city of San Francisco for its failure to protect the property of the Monitor, and after three or four years of extensive litigation was awarded a verdict of something like $20,000."—News Letter.

The Lord Now Has a Musical Critic

I learn from the Oakland Tribune that the Pacific Coast branch of the Religious Association has been holding a convention of some sort in Berkeley. I learn also that one of the features of last Friday's session was an address delivered by Dr. Henry F. Cope of Chicago, the general secretary of the association. The following from Dr. Cope's address was following in "blackface" type by THE TRIBUNE:

"If God can be pleased by the sort of hymns that are ordinarily sung in our Sunday schools, I am sorry for His musical taste."

I assume that the reverend gentleman from Chicago was quoted correctly. To the lay mind it seems that attributing to the Deity a human taste for music and a strictly human irritation at bad music constitutes a sin of blasphemy; but one must get used to the anomaly of the clergy blaspheming the Almighty. There is plenty of scriptural warranty for the old-fashioned belief that the Lord considers only the intention of His creatures; that a hymn of praise is none the less acceptable because it is sung off the key. "A broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise," cried the Psalmist. Does the Lord despise a broken voice? Is there no hope for the devout choir singer who misses the pitch? Is the singing of a Caruso or a Tetraxial more efficacious than the singing of a humble worshiper who never studied harmony? Let me suggest that Dr. Cope who sets himself up as the Lord's musical critic, read and digest Anatole France's story of "The Juggler of Notre Dame."—Town Talk.

Assessing Skinned Nose of Miss Gardiner

Miss Annie E. Gardiner, an employee of the State Printing House, slipped and fell on the steps of that building yesterday morning. The Industrial Accident Commission awards her $25.00 damages, to be paid by the State. One may be permitted to wonder how that precise figure was arrived at. How did that odd nickel creep in, and where? What is the arithmetical relation between a skinned nose and the State Treasury? Is a woman's nose worth more than a man's nose? Presumably yes, because the masculine proboscis has become a purely superfluous organ, and a candidate for to the sack. Thinking that it contained a dead animal, he gave it a kick, but soon discovered that it was the respectable of enough explosive to have blown up the whole city. Now Mike is wondering what might have happened had the sack kicked back. It is one of the great secrets of success in life to know whom or what to kick.—News Letter.

Mike Noon's Luck—It Was Some Luck

A Monterey dispatch tells the story of Mike Noon's luck, from which one learns that a sack containing 28 whole sticks of dynamite, three half sticks, a roll of fuse and a box of percussion caps, was discovered hidden in the grass close to the Southern Pacific depot. While strolling along in a vacant lot, not far from the

"Youth's Companion" Was John M. Keith

So I heard Tom Bellow, the handsome city editor of the Call, characterize John M. Keith, who died so suddenly on Monday. It is a pat title, for Keith loved the young with a whole-hearted love that is not too common in octogenarians, querulous and exacting as they are apt to be. He showered affection on his young friends, and he permitted his affection to express itself in kindly presents. He was so charitable that perhaps it will be found that he leaves a much smaller estate than might be expected. But he was not a careless giver, and he disliked beggars.

"I'd rather give a thousand dollars to a person who didn't ask for it than to a person who begged," he remarked one day.

That was shortly after he contributed $500.00 to the erection of the $500,000 masses Heights, Will and Templeton Crocker giving the balance. When the papers announced this munificent gift old John Keith was pothered a great deal with begging letters. All sorts of strangers representing themselves as most deserving wanted to "borrow" anywhere from fifty to a thousand dollars. At that time he also received two proposals of marriage. They amused him greatly.

Fortune came to old John Keith and his wife late in life. He came to California from Georgia in the days of the gold rush, but failed to make a pile. He engaged in the lumber business in California after deserting the diggings, and then became a farmer, first at Gilroy and later in Kern county. He was agent of the Union Oil Company when the oil excitement struck Kern. He discovered that he was farming one of the best oil fields in the territory, and became rich overnight. He associated with J. J. Mack, who had made a good deal of money in the wholesale drug business and had dabbled a little in oil, and together they bought five and one-half sections of land for two dollars and a half per acre. That was the beginning of the famous "Thirty-Three" oil holdings, which were afterwards sold to an English syndicate for two millions. Mack and he became millionaires together.—Town Talk.

High Cost of Grove Plays

Bohemia feels the high cost of living, or entertaining. It's the same thing. In Bohemia living is synonymous with entertaining. Life in Bohemia is just one jinks after another. Your true Bohemian cannot live without amusement; between entertainments he merely exists. And he draws the deepest breath of life, in the consciousness of the highest vitality, when the midsummer grove play is given. Then it is that he luxuriates in living. "Luxuriates" is the word. The grove play is surrounded by a Persian apparatus of luxury. The cost has been mounting steadily year after year till it has reached dizzy heights of expenditure. So the Bohemians have decided to cut a half. Bohemia is going to tighten the purse strings, for of course there is a purse in Bohemia. Too long it has been regarded as the purse of Fortunatus. For instance, Rufus Steele's grove play, "The Fall of Ux," cost the club $11,040.65. Joe Beeding's "The Atonement of Pan" cost $387.57. The figures are from the club's annual report. Here is President Field's comment:

"The club functions have cost money as is shown by the treasurer's report. The larger part of the increase shown is due to the cost of the midsummer jinks, which has constantly tended in recent years, with the exception of 1911, toward greater expense. Your board of directors has considered a careful analysis of the jinks situation, in the light of their experience, and they have decided that two steps are necessary to a correction of the tendency toward increased cost of entertainments, particularly as regards the grove play. Accordingly they have by resolution limited the amount of money available for the grove play to $5000, an amount judged adequate through study of grove play expenditures over a period of five years, and, further, have established a system whereby the office of the club is made the purchasing agency through which all bills for the grove play must be incurred and where account may be kept of the amounts involved in the preparations for the play."—Town Talk.

Unequal Operation of Revenue System

The unequal operation of the new, or comparatively new, state revenue system is illustrated by the case of the San Diego and Arizona Railroad, financed by the Stockholders' interests, and projected to run from San Diego to Yuma. This road is built and operated for a short distance, but the State Board of Equalization refuses to recognize it as an operative property in the meaning of the Constitutional amendment, which requires four per cent of the gross earnings of railroads to be paid into the State Treasury in lieu of taxes. The State Board of Equalization has refused to tax the railroad property as operative, and has ordered it assessed as "non-operative" property by the county of San Diego. If the board is compelled to tax the railroad on its gross earnings, the amount of tax it would pay this year would be $134, and in addition the State would have to pay several thousand dollars to San Diego county to make up the taxes it would lose. Now the railroad company has sued out a writ of mandate to direct the board to make its classification as an operative road.—News Letter.

The Pacific-Union and the Mummy

"Did you hear about the trouble at the Pacific-Union Club?" asked Gavin McNab, when I met him the other day. "You don't mean the Bohemian Club, do you?"

"No," said Gavin, "this is a different trouble, but it was caused by the same mummy. It appears that after the postponement of the mummy ceremonies at the Bohemian Club, Jeff Lynch offered his mummy to the Pacific-Union. There was as much excitement over the offer as the house rules of the Pacific-Union allow. The afternoon bridge contingent proposed that the mummy be admitted to full membership; they recognized a kindred and congenial spirit. But the Burlingame contingent opposed this; they said that the mummy didn't belong to

There's no doubt about it, the election trouble in Bohemia has caused a serious split in the club. It has come nearer to disrupting the club than anything that has happened in years. The Smith faction refuse to come together, and the bitterness is increasing instead of diminishing. Members are dividing along the lines that separated them during the great prosecution, and that issue has certainly been a bone of contention. Chairman Field is said to be on the verge of nervous prostration as a result of the dissension. Field is the best president the club has ever had. The club made brilliant additions to its traditions and enjoyed financial success during his incumbency. It was expected that he would go out of office in a blaze of glory. Instead, this unfortunate trouble occurred and he is quite in a storm of epiphany. It will take a long time to heal the breach.

Smith forces is a partisan of the election he exulted over the elimination of Metson in terms which proved offensive to the City Park Commissioner. Metson didn't mind words with Levison about the matter. He exhortated Levison till the latter must have felt like a cinder.

Frank's Opinion and Another

"I cannot resent your language in the Club," said Levison.

"Come outside, and I'll give you a chance to resent it anywhere you wish," replied Metson.

Levison did not accept the invitation. But Metson refused to let the matter drop. He went to the writing room and wrote a letter to Levison which began: "This is intended as an insult." His friends urged him not to send it, however, and reluctantly he took their advice.—Town Talk.

Frank's Opinion and Another

If you want to get a good-natured "rise" out of Frank Maroney just say to him:

"By the way, Frank, I understand there are two opinions in the Bohemian Club."

That seemingly innocent remark will not fail too pleasantly on the ears of Frank. The man who is famous for the way he recites "Shanahan's Gold Shebeen" took a great interest in the candidacy of Billy Metson for president of the Bohemian Club. He might also be called Metson's campaign manager. He sent a personal letter to all the voting members of the club, pointing out Metson's qualifications and asking that he be supported. One paragraph of the letter began: "In my opinion," and Frank's "opinion" was made the subject of a good deal of joshing. Then came the letter sent out by the board of directors explaining what had happened began: "There are two opinions in the club." Naturally the club has not overlooked the opportunity for quips and cracks which this accidental similarity of language presents. I assume that it was accidental. It must be remembered, however, that President Charles Field is something of a wag himself.—Town Talk.

Kuhl Is Sore; There's a Reason

It is gossiped about that Max Kuhl of the Police Commission has considerably stung his arrier for reform, also that he nurses a soreness toward the mayor. It is said that Max feels that the mayor has made him the "knot" in the matter of hiding the Barbary Coast among other things, and that he would not be unwilling to reason if he could find a graceful way of doing so. I shouldn't be surprised if Kuhl's attitude in matters of uplift has hurt his law practice a good deal. He has been blamed for the extreme to which civic regeneration has been carried, and this may be his reason for feeling so. He only carried out the orders handed him by the Mayor.—Town Talk.

Eccentric Millionaire Is Lyman Stewart

We were told the other day that Lyman Stewart of Los Angeles had sold the fifteen-million dollar Union Oil Company to Andrew Wier and his associates of a big Liverpool syndicate. This means that Lyman Stewart retires from the oil business with a couple of millions of ready cash at his disposal. Part of his own consists of the $500,000 forfeited by the General Petroleum Company when it failed to raise the $1,000,000 needed to develop the oil fields of the Gulf of Mexico. What will Lyman Stewart do with the money? Considering that he is as hard-headed a Scotchman as Andrew Wier himself, one might suppose that he would hold fast to his pile of gold. But those who know tell me he will do nothing of the sort. He's going to invest in the Bible. Stewart is seen as a regular Gideon-Society passion for circulating the Bible. He is particularly eager to see the heathens of Africa supplied with copies of the Good Book. He maintains that a steady stream of Bibles and gold flows in the direction of civilization. I understand that he is putting up a skyscraper as big as the Chronicle Building to house his regeneration organization. It may seem strange that a canny business man should spurge on religion in this way, but it's a fact.—Town Talk.
